ANTI-ADMINISTRATION EMPLOYEES NOT ALLOWED ON HOSPITAL PERSONNEL

HARRISBURG, Oct. 9.—Superintendents of all state-owned institutions have been instructed by Dr.
Hilga C. Potter, secretary of the Department of Welfare, that in the future no new employees will be engaged who are known to be antagonistic toward the present administration. Any person so engaged who is found to be antagonistic toward the administration will be immediately dismissed, Dr.
Potter stated in her letter to the inspection heads.

The new order will not affect the present personnel at the various state hospitals and homes, and will only apply to those persons engaged in state service following receipt of the letter.

This is the first attempt of any department head to instruct subordinates as to who shall be employed to work for the state in the various branches of government. Dr.
Potter refused to make any further comment on the letter, save that it will apply only to persons hired in the future.

Mine Props Are New Farm Crop
In Coal Regions

STATE COLLEGE, Oct. 9.—A new farm crop has been discovered in Pennsylvania. Although some farmers sowed the possibilities several years ago the production of mine props in the hard coal region of Pennsylvania on an extensive basis is a new enterprise, and offers great returns for farms favorably situated to the hard coal mines.

More than 100 farmers around Forest City in Susquehanna county are in the new game. Allowing $7.00 for the team and driver the timber brings around $10.00 per cord. And if proper care is taken of the woodlots, C. R. Anderson, forestry extension specialist at State College, said today that they will continue to produce these props indefinitely.

Two Undergo Operations.

Harry Staumann, 12 years old, of the West Side, underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Cottage State Hospital this morning. He was admitted yesterday. Mrs. George Askey of Perryopolis, also underwent an operation this morning.

Liberty Bonds and Stocks Worth $2,500 Stolen From Woman at Husband's Funeral

Taken From Tin Box at Home of Mrs. Francis Pavlok at Mount Pleasant.

Special to The Courier.

MOUNT PLEASANT, Oct. 9.—Yesterday morning while the widow of Francis Pavlok and members of the family who live in Main street, in what is known as the "Old Ark," was attending mass at the Polish Church for Pavlok, who died last Thursday, the house was entered and $2,500 of Liberty bonds and steel stock certificates were stolen out of a tin box.

When the family left for the mass, which was to be held at 8 o'clock, they locked the house and started away feeling that everything was safe. It was some time later on in the day when it was discovered the box had been rifled. A cellar door was open. The Pavloks said they did not know whether it had been locked or not. Evidently this was the way the thief gained entrance.

The Liberty bonds are registered.
Notice was served on banks to be on the lookout for these stolen securities, and the police were notified.

FATHER AND THREE SONS BURN TO DEATH;
500 ARE DRIVEN OUT

By United Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Three brothers and their father lost their lives today in a tenement fire in Brooklyn.

The mother and wife, Mrs. Charles Cammarata, is in the hospital suffering from burns. Physicians do not believe she can recover.

The fire, which started on the ground floor, spread to adjacent tenement units, driving more than 500 occupants, clad in night clothes, into the street.

ZR-1 WILL BE CHRISTENED SHENANDOAH

By United Press.

LAKEHURST, N. J., Oct. 9.—The ZR-1, navy dirigible, will be christened tomorrow by Mrs. Edwin Denby, wife of the Secretary of the Navy.

The ship's new name will be Shenandoah—"Daughter of the Stars."
Instead of the customary breaking of a bottle of champagne toy balloons will be released and flowers dropped from the roof of the hangar.

After the christening, if weather permits, the Shenandoah will take the Denbys on a short ride around Lakehurst.

Woman Punished For Reading Aloud Picture Titles

By United Press.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 9.—Lizzie
Evans, a negro, is dead, and Mary Martin, also a negro, is being held on a charge of murder here today because the slain woman persisted in reading aloud motion picture titles in a local theatre.

When Lizzie was warned against reading aloud she became abusive and a few minutes later was on her way to the hospital where it was found her throat was cut. She died during the night.

Fair Weather for Opening of World Series Tomorrow

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—"Fair and cool weather" was forecast for the world series tomorrow by the Weather Bureau today. "As far ahead as we can see there is no sign of a change in the present fair and cool weather," it was said. "Probably it will last the rest of this week and possibly well into the next."

The games will start at 2 P. M., eastern standard time.

Patrick Coyne Is Held for Grand Jury

By United Press.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 9.—A legless man today was held for the action of the grand jury, charged with murder.
He is Patrick Coyne of Port Perry, a routinier, who confessed he shot and killed his two-months' bride, Julia, 18, in their "honeymoon cottage," July 13.
A few hours after the shooting, Coyne, a bricklayer, fell between a train of cars and lost both legs.

The Medical Detachment will hold its regular drill at the Army this evening.

Minister Whose Actress Wife Left Him Ends It All

By United Press.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 9.—Tragedy which entered into the life of a minister who married an actress was brought to light here today with the suicide of Rev. John William Jones, an Episcopal pastor of Hutchinson, Kan.

In a letter to his actress wife, known on the stage as Mary Topper or Pauline LaVerne, Rev. Jones expressed a full realization that he would violate the fourth commandment: "Thou shalt not kill." He declared his determination to "go beyond the veil where I hope to meet my God and be forgiven all my sins—even this."

His wife is now on a theatrical tour of the East. Five children, ranging in ages from 12 to 19, are with her.

The letter to Pauline LaVerne was a detailed account of the man's conflict a few moments before he held the revolver to his head and pulled the trigger. He had been separated from the woman for several years until this summer when he took a long automobile trip with her and their children. She then returned East.

The letter showed Rev. Jones had been despondent because his wife and children did not live with him. It said in part:

"I can see no way out of my difficulty but to end them once and for all. We never seemed to have gotten anywhere on the divorce question nor have we succeeded in making it go. I acknowledge it is far more my fault than yours. I ask your forgiveness."

The pastor then related provisions of his will, disposing of his property, consisting mostly of insurance which would go to the wife and children.

Continuing, he said:
"I am well in body and mind, but glut in heart and soul. The world is full of turmoil and struggle and I am breaking under it. I broke under it once and am ready to break again."

Dr. Hutchinson Calls Meeting of
M. E. Membership

Dr. Bennett W. Hutchinson, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, who has been returned for another year as pastor, asks that all members be at the church to meet him Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The occasion is being made a special one in order that plans for the work may be discussed. After this meeting there will be a session of the Sunday school board.

West Virginia Gas Case to Be Reviewed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The United States Supreme Court has granted the motion and fixed November 19 as the date for a review of the cases brought by the states of Pennsylvania and Ohio against West Virginia which involved the right of the latter to restrict the quantity of natural gas exported across the state line.

By a decision of the court West Virginia lost the case, the court holding that gas was an article of interstate commerce and therefore not subject to state regulation with respect to its exportation.

In making request for a review West Virginia took the position that the decision was so broad that it would permit all gas produced within its borders to be sent to other states, leaving its own citizens without this form of fuel.

In 1919 the West Virginia Legislature passed what was known as the Steples law, providing that gas companies should have their lines so connected that in case of failure of one supply another might be substituted.
The provision which was contested was one forbidding the exportation of natural gas until all consumers in West Virginia were supplied, and the states of Ohio and Pennsyvania, both of which get quantities of natural gas from West Virginia, brought suit before the Supreme Court and in the decision given June 18, the court divided, six members upholding the other states and three favoring West Virginia's contention.

SOOTHING JOURNEY TO GRAVE WITH MUSIC

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—A $20,000 hearse decorated with 35 wooden candles and equipped with chimes to play sacred music appeared on the lower East Side today. The hearse also has a talking machine and amplifier to carry the music to the graveside.

5,000 Acre Game
Refuge in County Believed Assured

The officers of the Fayette County
Fish and Game Protective Association went to Mill Run Monday evening and organized a branch of the association with 20 members. Charles Marletta was elected director and Arthur Friend secretary and treasurer. State Game Protector R. G. Bryson made a short address on the new game code, also on the progress being made toward securing state game refuge. He stated that prices had been secured on about 5,000 acres at very favorable terms and that Fayette county was practically assured of securing the refuge. Members at Mill Run report that there are less violations of the game laws than usual, practically no shooting being done in that locality.

Saturday night a local of 29 members was formed at Olney, with J. M. Wiley as director and A. A.
Corrigan, secretary and treasurer.
The goal is 100 members. Talks were made at the meeting by President H.
L. Kropp and Vice-President M. A.
Hamman of Connellsville and State Game Protector Bryson.

Isaac Hutchinson Pays First Visit
Here in 39 Years

After paying his first visit in 39 years to this section, Isaac S. Hutchinson of Kansas City, Mo., who had been on an eastern trip, left for here today. While here he visited relatives in this city and Mill Run. He is a former resident of the county and the present visit is the first made since leaving nearly two score years ago.

He is a brother of the late Mrs. C.
S. Smuts of the West Side and an uncle of S. Mende Hutchinson of Killinarney Park.

Stresemann Voted Reichstag's Support

BERLIN, Oct. 9.—Chancellor Strese-mann has won the required confidence of the Reichstag in his new "patchwork" ministry, despite a general feeling it can not long endure.
By a two-thirds vote the Reichstag passed a resolution of confidence in the government late last night.

At the time Stresemann was receiving the support of the legislators, Hugh Stinson, sitting by charges that the industrialist was trying to establish a dictatorship by driving prices sky-high, published a statement under his own name denying this.

Temperature Falls Below Freezing

The coldest mark of the fall season, 31 degrees, was recorded on the official thermometer last night. There was another heavy frost.

The warmest recorded yesterday was 62 degrees.

Muscle Bores.

The Local Order of Moose of Uniontown was today granted permission by the court to borrow $50,000 to finance the remodeling of its home into a hotel.

Drunken Driver Committed.

John Tokor of New Salem was convicted today in Uniontown to serve four months in the workhouse for driving a car while intoxicated.

M. Duggan Willing to Pay
City $10,000 Claim If He Owes It Council Is Told

Speaking for his uncle Malachuk Duggan, before City Council last night, Attorney John Duggan told the members he was willing to meet them, together with two former councilmembers, at any time to settle their contention to discuss the matter of a sum of money the city claims Duggan

New Christian Bible School Plant Declared to Be Finest
In Western Part of the State

Statement Is Made by Rev. D.
Park Chapman, Missionary Secretary.

The Christian Church of Connellsville has the finest Sunday school plant of any of the Christian churches in Western Pennsylvania, said Rev.
D. Park Chapman of Greensburg, secretary of the Western Pennsyvania Christian Missionary Society, at the first of the week-day services at the church Monday night in preparation for the dedication of the building next Sunday. It is the most modern, the best equipped, the finest in every way, Rev. Chapman said.

Rev. Chapman was the speaker of the evening, the service being held in the new Bible school auditorium.
Rev. A. F. Hanes of Brownsville presided, and he too referred to the beauty and modernity of the plant.
Rev. Hanes was introduced by D.
M. Swartzwelder, superintendent of the Sunday school and he in turn introduced Rev. Chapman. The invocation was made by Dr. William H.
Hotrick, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church. Dr. Bennett W. Hutchinson offered the opening prayer. There was a special number by the choir and congregational singing. The Sunday School Orchestra, of which Byron Porter is director, played. The benediction was pronounced by Rev.
Chapman.

Tonight's program, in the gymnasium, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, will be:

Rev. Paul Wright of Scottsdale presiding. Introduced by A. R. Skomp.
Hymn No. 508 and invocation, Rev.
W. P. Russell.

Hymn No. 353.

Prayer—Rev. Francis J. Scott.

Chapman's remarks.

Music.

Address—Rev. John W. Love of Washington, Pa.

Hymn No. 524.

Benediction—Rev. C. E. Miller.

Boy Scouts of the city have been invited by Scoutmaster C. A. Crowley of Troop 4 to attend the service in a body. There will be something of interest for them by the speaker, Rev. Love, whose subject will be "The Four-Square Program."

Perry Township Sends in $724
For Jap Relief

Perry township has boosted the Fayette county fund for Japanese relief by $724.25, receipt of which from Howard Adams of Perryopolis, chairman of the district was made today by Walter P. Schenck, executive secretary of the Red Cross. The contribution brought the total for the district to $1,283 and showed it into third place in the county. Uniontown and Connellsville leading.

Of the sum reported $423.50 was given by employees of the Washington Coal & Coke Company at Star Junction, $287.25 by employees of the Jameson Coal & Coke Company at Perryopolis, and $10 by the Home
Circle of the Star Junction Baptist Church.

Huston Williams' Funeral Thursday

The funeral of Huston S. Williams, register and recorder of Fayette county, who died yesterday in the Uniontown Hospital, will be held Thursday.
There will be a short service at the home at Fairchance at 1:30 o'clock followed by a fuller service at 2 o'clock at the Presbyterian Church at the same place.

City $10,000 Claim If He Owes It Council Is Told

Some time ago it was discovered by Council that Contractor Duggan had received approximately $10,000 more than was due him for the job, it being claimed that brick used had been paid for by the city at the time of their purchase from the brick company, and then when the job was completed the contractor also received payment for them.

If it is found he owes the city anything he is ready and willing to pay but a number of matters must be ironed out. He is willing to settle for whatever is owed. We have no intention to raise any technicalities but are anxious to get the matter adjusted," Attorney Duggan told Council.

The attorney suggested that R. E.
Shaw and C. W. Uls, members of Council at that time, be summoned to the meeting, together with former City Clerk Harry G. Mason.
No date for any meeting was set last night but it is expected to be within a short time.

COUNCIL REFUSES FURTHER HEARING TO HUMBERTSON

Action of Mayor Mitchell in Dismissing Officer Is Approved.

HE HAD ENTERED PLEA

Removal of Patrolman Leo Rist Also Meets With Approval of Mayor Residents of Eleventh street Petition for Sewer; More Light Needed.

Council last night approved the action of Mayor Charles C. Mitchell in his suspension of Patrolman C. E.
Humbertson following a hearing for conduct unbecoming to an officer. The officer had pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery.
Humbertson appeared to Council for a hearing and appeared there Monday night with Attorney John Duggan, but the attorney was informed there would be no hearing for the officer inasmuch as he had pleaded guilty to the charge. When the resolution "maintaining the action of the mayor in the case was put before Council it was unanimously adopted.
One member, Councilman C. M. Stone, was absent.

The charges against Humbertson were made by Harry McClain of Isa-bella road.

A resolution, approving the suspension of Patrolman Leo Rist also for conduct unbecoming to an officer, was also approved by council.

The mayor's report for the month of September, showing a total of $1,740.30 collected through that office, was read and approved.

A petition was presented by residents of Eleventh street, asking for a sewer. The petition was placed on file. Council feels it would not pay to do anything there until all the coal beneath has been removed.

The matter of a second light at West Crawford avenue and Arch street was discussed. The light is needed. It was said, to make the corner doing traffic duty more visible to motorists. A second one has been temporarily erected but Council did not determine whether or not it would be retained. There has always been one light on the corner.

It was reported that some people had been burning leaves on the waste streets. Council recommended that this practice cease at once as heat might cause considerable damage to the surrounding material.

The city clerk was authorized to advertise for bids for a sewer 150 feet long in Oak street.

J. J. Linn was given the contract for raising the street and curb in South Pittsburgh street between Hildwin and Gallatin avenues. His estimate was $390. He was the only bidder.

Councilman James W. Wordley made another report on the progress toward a new garbage plant. Figures received by him from one concern estimated the cost of a new plant at $15,000. He hopes to get one erected at a much smaller figure. Something must be done in the matter this winter as the present plant is about burned out and it is considered it will do well to last through the winter, he said.

Lights were ordered installed on Cherry lane in Snyderstown, North First street and one at the far end of Willis road.

Council also talked over the purchase of street markers. They are badly needed and Council hopes to get every important intersection marked soon. Strangers have a difficulty finding any street by name.

A communication from the Woman's Culture Club, thanking Council for its assistance in the playground movement, and especially Staff Commissioner William McCormick and his force, was read.

BITNER MAN IS FATALLY HURT IN BOARDING TRUCK

As the result of injuries sustained in falling while attempting to board one of P. J. Ridger's trucks near the forks of the Bitner road at Elm Grove, Bruno Bitnak, 45 years old, died Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Cottage State Hospital.

Bitnak grabbed hold of the steering wheel, causing the truck to swerve sharply to one side of the road, the driver losing control. In falling, Bitnak struck the back of his head, his skull being fractured.
James Brennan, driver, put the Injured man into the truck and rushed him to the hospital. Bitnak did not regain consciousness.

The deceased was a native of Hungary and was formerly employed by the H. C. Frick Coke Company at Bitner. Relatives living at Monaca will have charge of the funeral. Services will be held tomorrow at the funeral parlors of William A. Mc-Nannan in West Apple street. Interment will be made in the St. John's Slavish Cemetery.

Undergo Throat Operations.

Elizabeth Duffy, nine years old, of Dunbar; Benjamin Walker, five years old, of this city; Berton Umbal, 18 years old, of South Connellsville, and David Richter, 14 years old, of this city, all underwent throat operations at the Cottage State Hospital this morning.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY PLANS FOR ARMISTICE DAY

Plans for the annual Armistice Day celebration on November 11, were discussed at the regular meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary held last night in the legion rooms in West Crawford avenue. All arrangements for the day have been completed with the exception of appointment of committees. Dinner will be served in the State Armory immediately after the parade. The meeting was largely attended and one new member, Mrs. F. A. Horton of the West Side, was admitted. Mrs. B. F. Jones, president, had charge of the meeting.

Party at Dunbar.

Mrs. R. B. Paul entertained a number of people at her home in Woodvale street, Dunbar, Monday evening in honor of her son, Edwin Mansfield. Mr. Mansfield is home on a 20-day furlough from Fort Hamilton, Brooklyn, N. Y. On his return he will sail for the Philippines Islands. The evening's program was nicely arranged, being begun by several readings by Miss Mabel A. Boyer. Charles Hall and three small sons, Edwin, Harry and Howard, rendered musical selections. One of the evening's most enjoyable features was the song dancing by the children. Games were participated in by all the young folks. Music and dancing concluded the enjoyment. Then a three-course dinner was served by the hostess.

L. C. B. A. to Meet.

The regular meeting of the L. C. B. A. will be held Wednesday night in the Parochial School Hall.

Miss Eleanor Horner Weds.

A marriage of much interest socially in Conneltsville is that of Miss Eleanor Grace Horner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Horner of Edna street, and Samuel Theodore Holmgren, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. A. Holmgren of Concord, N. H., solemnized Monday at noon in the home of the bride's parents. Dr. Bennett W. Hutchinson, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church officiated and only the immediate relatives witnessed the ceremony. The bride wore her traveling suit of gray material with collar of gray moufflon and hat to match. American beauty roses formed her corsage. The bride was graduated from the Conneltsville High School and attended Penn State and Grove City Colleges. She was formerly a teacher in the Conneltsville schools and has since been employed in the treasury department, Washington, D. C. The bridegroom is a graduate of Columbian College of George Washington University and also of the law school, having recently received the degree of A. B. L. L. B. and L. L. M. He recently completed a post graduate course at the American University where the degree of Doctor of Civil Law was conferred upon him. He is a member of the bar of Supreme Court of the state of New Hampshire and that of the District of Columbia. During the World War he served in the signal corps with the rank of lieutenant. He is at the present employed in the government service as an attorney. Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Holmgren left for Washington, D. C., where they will be at home in the Pentilly Apartments.

Outlook Club Meets.

An exceptionally interesting meeting of the Outlook Club was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harry T. Crossland in Tenth street, West Side. The meeting was the first of the current season and all members but one, Mrs. Arthur P. Freed, a patient in the Mercy Hospital, Pittsburgh, were present. A most attractive program on "Vacation Echoes" was carried out, members telling of their summer vacation trips. Long-fellow's poems were given. At the conclusion of the program dainty refreshments were served. Miss Phoebe Dunn will entertain the club Monday afternoon, October 22 at her home in South Prospect street. "Seeing Pennsylvania" is the subject. Mrs. Donald Grille of Canton, Ohio, the guest of Mrs. J. A. McGarry, was a guest of the club.

Otterbein Guild.

The Otterbein Guild was entertained last evening at the home of Miss Nellie Whippley of the West Side, with 28 members and five guests in attendance. Features of the evening's program were: Duets, Mary and Lillian Osterwise; recitation, Miss Mary Osterwise; mission study lesson, "The Women and the Leaven in Japan," led by Miss Whippley, the mission study teacher. Lunch was served.

Licensed in Uniontown.

Andrew Little and Sarah Still, both of Dunbar; Kenneth P. Trout of Mount Braddock and Doris E. Wilson of Fairchance; Paul W. Hill of Jefferson and Anna Ellen Stonelock of Davidson were licensed to wed in Uniontown.

Junior Missionary Society.

A fascinating little booklet, "Through Thick and Thin", telling you exactly how to reduce or increase weight, and giving many valuable diet recipes, sent free on request. Write E. D. Davis Co., Hoboken, N. J.

To women who must be careful-

HOW disheartening it is to find that the scales are correct; that one really weighs a few pounds more — those few pounds that make such a difference in one's whole appearance!

But you can reduce—without hunger or discomfort.

Be careful to avoid wheat breads and other fattening breadstuffs. Instead, make these delicious "Slim-Jane Biscuits" and "Slim-Jane Muffins", making them yourself, so that you know they have the minimum of fuel value. Why not try them today?

NOTE: And try beating a pint of evaporated milk into a pound of butter, substituting it for rich whole butter. It tastes good and will not increase your weight.

"Slim-Jane Biscuits"

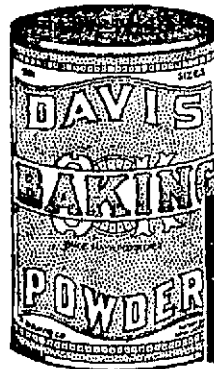

2 c. Graham flour 2 tb. shortening
4 ts. Davis Baking Powder ½ to 1 c. skimmed milk
¼ ts. salt

Thoroughly mix the Davis Baking Powder and salt with the flour, rub in the shortening with finger tips, or cut in with knife, gradually add the milk, mixing lightly. On floured board, roll to ¼" thickness, shape with cutter and bake in hot oven 12 to 15 minutes.

"Slim-Jane Muffins"

2 c. clean bran ¼ c. sweetening (cocoa butter preferred)
1 c. whole wheat flour 1½ c. skimmed milk
3 ts. Davis Baking Powder 1 egg-beaten
1 ts. salt ¼ lb. melted shortening

Mix in order given, sifting flour, Davis Baking Powder and salt together. Bake in hot oven (400° F) 20 to 25 minutes, in greased muffin tin.

Hasty Conferences In Plan of Action Against Saloon Men

By United Press.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 9.—The plan of action to be taken against several thousand saloon keepers in Pennsylvania who have determined to protect the proceedings instituted against them by Governor Pinchot will be determined at a conference with Department of Justice officials in Washington today, Attorney General Woodruff announced here.

Deputy Attorney General John F. English of the State Department of Justice made a hurried trip to Washington for a conference on the course to take against Philadelphia and Schuylkill county violators, following the ruling of Judge Thompson of the federal court in Philadelphia, which will require a full presentation of each case.

NEGROES CAUGHT SHOPLIFTING AT SCOTSDALE STORE

Department Manager Grapples With Man But He Makes Get Away.

IS ARRESTED LATER

Special to The Courier.

SCOTSDALE, Oct. 9.—Yesterday afternoon Walter Thomas and Lillie Miller were given hearings before Justice William Kneel charged with shoplifting. On Saturday evening the two negroes went into the Miller Department Store, presumably to buy ladies' ready-made dresses. Ron Miller, who was on the floor thought that Thomas acted suspiciously. His attention was attracted to the raincoat he had on. Mr. Miller pulled off the raincoat and three ladies' dresses fell out. Mr. Miller made an effort to hold the man until the police could be summoned but he got away. The woman was held and taken to the borough lockup. Later in the evening Thomas was arrested by Officers Frank Gannon and Reuben Gaus. It was estimated that goods had been taken to jail at Greensburg were held for court and in default of bail were taken to jail at Greensburg to await the trial in court.

Held For Auto Theft.

Leroy Nicewonger was given a hearing before Justice of the Peace William Kneel, charged with stealing an automobile from John Zaleno and held for court in default of bail. He was taken to jail at Greensburg.

STARS ARE PUT TO MANY USES IN EVERYDAY LIFE

Smithsonian Institution Report Describes Recent Achievements of Scientists.

Among the recent developments and achievements in the scientific world, described by the Smithsonian Institution in the latest of its reports just out, are the many uses to which the stars are put in everyday life.

Dr. W. W. Campbell, of Lick observatory, writing on "Daily influences of astronomy," gives many of the interesting facts of the astronomical knowledge and tells of the application of certain of them.

For example, observations of the stars are supplying all nations with accurate time, accurate maps of continents and islands depend on astronomical determinations of their latitudes and longitudes. In America boundary lines between nations are fixed by observations of the stars, the sailing of ships over long courses determined from the work of astronomers.

The age of the earth is discussed in an article by Lord Rayleigh and several other scientists, each considering the problem from the point of view of a different science. From a study of the rate of decomposition of the radio-elements, Lord Rayleigh deduces a length of time of around 2,000,000,000 or 3,000,000,000 years in that the earth's crust has been suitable for the habitation of living beings.

Among the various anthropological papers in this Smithsonian report is a discussion by Dr. Alce Hrdlicka, of the United States National museum of the color of eyes, hair and skin among old American families in which there has been no admixture of foreign blood for three generations or more.

The observations were made on nearly 2,000 individuals, male and female, from north and south and of varying ages. Among the many conclusions reached the following are perhaps of most interest:

Two-thirds of the males and three-fourths of the females showed skin that may be classed as medium. In only five per 1,000 in males but fifty-two per 1,000 in females was the skin plainly lighter than medium. Only one among sixteen males and one among fourteen females has real blond hair.

In approximately 1 per cent in males and but a little more in females the hair was fully black. In 2 per 100 of males and five per 100 of females the hair is red or near red.

YOUNG TIGER RULES HOTEL

If He Did Nothing Else, He Had the Bell Hops Hop.

A full fledged, though not full grown, Honduran tiger, being entertained at a New Orleans hotel, was the innocent cause of terrorism spreading among its corps of bell hops. First information received by the hotel authorities that there was a guest in one of the rooms whose name was not on the register came when one of the bell hops, three full shades paler than his usual dusky complexion, came leaping down from the second floor several steps at a time to announce that there was "a fighter" will "eat in room 254."

Investigation disclosed that the room was occupied by Charles A. Toce and William C. Miller of Lake Charles, La., who returned from Honduras, and the three-week-old kitten, which was captured by the two men during a hunt for big game in the jungles near San Pedro Sula. The animal will be presented to the New Orleans zoo.

MEASURE COSTS BY MINUTES

Austrians Now Work Four Times as Long for Loaf of Bread.

Austrian government employees, fighting to gain payment for their labors sufficient to maintain their families, have presented their case in a novel way. Instead of relating that in the old days they could buy for five crowns what now costs them 50,000, they have used minutes of labor as a measuring unit and produced an interesting table.

In 1914 a loaf of bread cost 124 minutes of labor. Today the cost is 49 minutes. A measure of sugar that cost 26 minutes nine years ago now calls for 102 minutes. Coal has risen from 1 hour and 18 minutes to 12 hours and 30 minutes, and a pair of shoes from 9 hours and 18 minutes to 19 hours and 30 minutes.

China has a population of 438,054,988, according to the annual report of the Chinese post office at Shanghai. The figure is only a vague estimate, compiled from reports of provincial offices, as no systematic method of census taking is followed in China outside the foreign concessions.

See Chwan, in the western part of China, is the most populous province, being credited with having 40,762,810 inhabitants.

Honan, Shantung and Chihli provinces follow in the order named each having more than 20,000,000 population.

CAREY BOARD makes clean, smooth walls that never can crack, and that need no decoration. It comes in artistic, neutral colors and realistic wood finishes.

It is cheaper and easier to handle than lumber or plaster. Any one can apply it with a knife, yardstick, and hammer.

Carey Board keeps the house warm in winter and cool in summer because it resists dampness and has unequalled insulating value, due to its unique construction.

Other wallboards are moisture-proofed on the outside. Carey Board is not only moisture proofed on the surface, but it has two layers of genuine asphalt running through its core.

These not only make it moisture-proof throughout, but vermin-proof, chip-proof, crack-proof, and sound-deadening.

YOUR PART IN REDUCING FIRE LOSSES.

The appeal being made this week to all property owners and householders to take all steps necessary to reduce the danger from fire in and about their premises is directly in the interests of the persons to whom the appeal is made and indirectly to the community at large.

Even without the statistics which show an alarming loss by fire during the course of the year people generally know, from the experience of themselves or their neighbors, that the fire loss would be much less if the proper safeguards were taken by everybody. They also know that comparatively little needs to be done in order to remove the fire hazards that in some or several forms are present in practically every place of business, dwelling or other building.

It is for the purpose of causing people to realize that in the last analysis they pay the fire losses from year to year, which last year amounted to $221,560,000, that the second week of October has been for several years set aside as Fire Prevention Week. In a statement issued by the leading insurance agencies of the city the importance of helping to stop the waste from fires is very strongly emphasized. Addressing all citizens the statement says:

"You are paying your share of this through probably for one hundred dollars, except as they collect from the public the money to do so. They pass the hat and you contribute whether you wish to or not. And remember—fire insurance can never reimburse you fully for your loss. And this is not all, for every fire means also loss of home or loss of job."

"Why continue this horrible unnecessary waste? Fires can be prevented. Nine fires out of every ten, according to reliable statistics, can be easily prevented by simple precautions and common carelessness. Help stop this waste! Your help is needed—get behind this movement personally."

"Fire Prevention Week is the time for you to begin to work to reduce the terrible annual toll of life and property and make safe the lives of those near and dear to you."

"But the end of the week should not mark the end of your interest, for if fire prevention efforts are to be successful, they must continue 52 weeks in the year."

If you have not already done so, get busy at once in making an inspection of your home and your place of business with a view to ascertaining what conditions, if any, exist that would become a source of fire or assist in spreading it if started nearby. When you find anything of this nature do not delay having it removed or made less dangerous. Doing this will be your part in promoting fire prevention—a duty you owe to yourself and family, your neighbor and the whole community."

PLAYING FAIR.

The people of the city ought to play fair with the firemen of the children in the matter of raising the comparatively small sum required to provide the prizes to be given for the best features of the forthcoming Halloween parade.

The firemen have again taken upon themselves the task of arranging and conducting this annual evening of fun for the youngsters and the grownups and are also engaged in soliciting the money that will be needed. This has not met with as much success as had been expected due in part to the failure of some people to respond with contributions.

Large amounts are not expected from any person. In fact, it is preferred that the fund be provided by as large a number of persons as possible so that it will be an expression of the community's desire to afford the children all the enjoyment possible to be obtained from the evening's entertainment.

Turning the firemen's committee down in, in effect, telling the children that they shall not have the pleasure incident to the present day method of observing Halloween. Recollections of your own boyhood days ought not allow you to deny youngsters of today equal or greater privileges in the matter of having a good time for at least one night in the year.

The appropriation of $1,000 to The American Legion for a permanent memorial to the men who gave their lives in the World War places Connelville in the forefront of the municipal organizations in this section in giving fitting recognition to its loyal sons.

The statement that this is a very poor season for nuts may be questioned by persons who have no trouble in finding a certain variety without making a search in the woods.

Business Is Good.

Cleveland Daily Iron Trade.

Measured by normal statistical standards of pig iron production, steel ingot output, railroad car loadings, Lake Superior iron ore shipments, volume of bank clearings, monthly sales of mail-order merchants, coal production and many other widely accepted authoritative yardsticks of industrial and commercial activity, business today is good. Granted that prices are low and in some lines unprofitable to high-cost producers, yet the volume of goods and raw materials moving between seller and buyer constitutes an unbelievable total. It piles up such tonnages as would have been regarded as tremendous, even in old "boom" times. Today, it reflects the foolishness of fear.

You well can recall that immediately after the armistice had been declared, every talker busily repeated the assertion that American industries in wartime had increased their productive facilities until now the heavy output no longer was needed for war purposes; years would be required for the country to grow up to this additional capacity. What nonsense, because in the past year even this capacity was filled and deliveries delayed for many months in some lines. In others, of course, trade and industry had marched past some of the high-cost production works, and now they have to close down or modernize their plant.

So today, what every one fears never comes to pass, whether in Wall Street or elsewhere. More blast furnaces will blow out, but we are producing pig iron today at the rate of about 39,000,000 to 40,000,000 tons, never done in any year before the war. Some men are making good profits, even today. Are you numbered among them or are you like one we heard of the other day so steeped in pessimism—groundless fears—that he doubts even the car-loading figures and fears they, rather than the cars, are "loaded"? Only one cure for that—look around and get busy.

His Loving Wife.

A charming young woman came to the window of a bank out West, and handing in a check for one hundred dollars, asked it was a birthday present from her husband, and requested payment. The teller informed her that she must first endorse it.

"I don't quite understand," she said with a pleading look and an air of hesitation, "just what do you mean?"

"Why, you see," he explained, "you must write your name on the back of the check, so that when we return the check to your husband, he will know we have paid you this money."

"Oh, yes, I understand," she replied, apparently much relieved.

After a moment she returned to the window and presented the check. Looking at the endorsement, the teller read: "Many thanks, darling boy, I've got the money all right. Your loving little wife, Dorothy."

TRAITS.

To have smoothed another's way. Even by the smile you give.

To have made another glad. He stood face to face with you, and your friendship once he had, this is being true.

To have been in time of need. First to hurry to the gate, first to do the kindly deed. This is being great.

To have learned in selfish strife. Little satisfaction lies. Serving is the joy of life. This is being wise.

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE'S BURDEN

When Winter Comes to Berlin

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Here is a story of Berlin looking forward to a cold, cheerless winter. It is written by Carl D. Groat, head of the Berlin bureau of The United Press. He is an American reporter, with careful, detailed, and accurate reporting, but he has been in Berlin with his family for several years and knows what he is writing about.—The United Press, New York.)

By CARL D. GROAT
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

BERLIN, Oct. 1.—Germany looks down the winter months ahead with despairing forebodings.

For this winter will mean to many, especially the "white-collar," middle class, the following:

1. Freezing, since coal vastly above the world market price, is beyond their reach and many apartments have not even a bucket of coal in their cellars and can buy none.

2. Cold food, for gas prices are now in the luxury realm and will be unpayable by thousands this winter. This statement is based on experience and upon the authority of no less an expert than Berlin's burgomaster, Herr Doose.

3. Milk shortage, since many bloated estate owners are holding back the milk to make butter wherewith to profit.

4. Transportation difficulties, since a number of trolley lines are being closed completely and there is even talk of shutting down the whole Berlin surface system.

5. Clothing scarcity, since men's suits and women's dresses are now beyond the world's market prices.

6. Unemployment—already setting in—and with more in prospect, as big business claims it cannot operate with present taxes and with the handicap of costs exceeding those of other producing nations.

The food prospects, for the moment, do not appear as dire as often pictured. Germany has this year the best harvest in many seasons. "The only difficulty is marketing it, since many grain growers are holding back their products for higher prices."

However, with any sort of luck, Germany ought to be able to squeeze through the winter on her home supplies, plus what she hopes to be able to buy after the industrialists have disgorged the foreign currency fund under the new currency ordinance.

Germany, already insured to cold, coalless winters, faces this winter the greatest coal famine in her history. House heating in thousands upon thousands of homes will be an unknown quantity. Last winter saw many cheerless, cold dwellings. The writer himself, ensconced in an almost palatial residence on fashionable Kurfurstendamm, never knew the meaning of a really comfortable heated dwelling. This winter is destined to be even worse.

In houses with so-called central heating, the furnaces are not stoked unless every tenant agrees to pay a share of the coal. Practically every apartment house in Berlin houses one or more down-at-heel, miserly families who cannot pay. That means no heating, unless the tenant is rich enough to afford stoves and to buy his own coal.

But coal today is selling at $20 or more per ton. The laborer earns at the best $9 or $10 a week, the middle class man by far not so much. Even out of the Ruhr, one of the world's richest coal regions, there comes the cry, "Give us coal or we die." The government, as this is written, is trying to puzzle out how to mine coal, keep it out of French hands, and still supply Germans. It cannot be done, it is generally admitted. When coal is again mined it means passive resistance has ceased. It also means that France will get the coal.

Hence, Germany shivers already in anticipation of the bitter days ahead. Not merely cold, but perhaps industrial decay and political upheaval will be the outcome of this coldest condition.

German babies are now paying a part of the fearful price of mark deflation in shortened milk rations.

Theoretically, babies under five years can have a liter of milk a day; in practice it is questionable whether they get it.

They must be registered with the police and "bread commission." The latter is full of red tape. It doesn't worry whether the babies get their milk cards or not so long as bureaucracy's demands are fulfilled.

Then, too, the big milk farm, Bette, has stopped part of its service already and is threatening to close other routes. One must chase far to find a milk store. Prices are high.

That there is a real milk shortage in Germany is not true. There is milk enough, but many of the swollen profiteering landlords see that butter made from milk is a more profitable commodity than milk sent to the big cities and sold at a city-controlled price.

The Junkers come in for much cursing these days. Not only do they hold back milk, but they are hoarding their bumper grains in many instances, waiting for higher prices—prices that are sure to come. They whine that they cannot pay taxes; the cities answer with "abuse."

But the cities are tiring of this sort of economy. This was demonstrated in August when 10 various communal workers marched to the farms confiscating cattle and selling the meat at artificially low prices. The Junkers are literally swimming in money, but they scorn the "radical cities" and grow no gray hairs over the needs of their countrymen. They are what the Vorparlaments aptly call "percentage patriots."

The Advanced Age.

"Doctor!"

"The modern woman approached the medical man tremblingly."

"Is there no hope of my husband?"

"Go on, madam."

"Is there no hope, doctor; is there no hope?"

"That depends, madam, on what you are hoping for," said the doctor, reaching for his hat.

WHEN HE ANY GUY A FRIEND IN THE WORLD—AND CALL HIS WOMEN DAUGHTER, PRETTY—BUT LET US PRINT SOMETHING HE DON'T LIKE, AND HE SAYS MEAN THINGS ABOUT US FER SIX OR TEN YEARS! 'M BOSS DON'T GIVE A WHOP, BUT I DO!"

COPYING THE BANE OF ART

Orville Believes That Americans Neglect Real Artistic Beauty for European.

Copying is still carried so far that ornament is copied all the time instead of being created, says Allen Tucker, in the North American Review, and I am told that in offices the draftsman must show his original for everything he does. Out of such a system artists do not come.

It is generally Europe that is copied. I know we came from Europe, are Europeans, but we have ourselves by now, an accomplishment of our own, and until recently, when there is a rather senseless copying of the external or colonial stuff, we never cast our eyes on our own things. The buildings of value we had were careless of. Think of dumping that post office where it ruins the appearance of our lovely city hall! Think of the savage and senseless destruction of St. John's chapel of Trinity parish, with its unrivaled spire!

We copy the old things. We do not seek to develop the artistic spirit that made nearly everything it touched a thing of delight and beauty. I think it was Mr. Lay who first pointed out what so few realize, that the New England town is the only town anywhere originally built on a plan, the only town made with a design, the only town with a feeling for form instinct in its very bones.

We rave about Italian villages and never see the quality of our native towns. I don't believe in the American eagle screaming, but there is no reason why he should spend his time sitting on foreign eggs in the attempt to hatch out what are always foreign birds, while so often the eggs have proved to be nothing but china somewhat devoid of life.

Assigning Him His Part.
The Grocer—Mebbe those eggs weren't quite up to grade but I'm too busy to talk about it just now.
Mrs. Chatterton—Who asked you to talk about it? I'm doing the talking. You listen.

School Apparel for Boys and Girls

For genuine pride in sporting some new wearing apparel, the average school boy or girl is not to be denied. They appreciate a good appearance just as much as do the older folks.

It takes good materials and good workmanship to make school wear that will stand the tests of the strenuous noon and recess games. You need not expect more service from a school outfit than has been built into it.

This is why Union Supply Company's clothing and shoe lines for children are so popular. Our lines of clothing, knitwear, underwear, hosiery and school shoes have been carefully selected by experienced buyers, and they are offered as representing the best values to be had in school wear.

See how well a Union Supply Company store can equip your boy or girl for fall and winter.

Two Truths I Own

By GRACE E. HALL

It saddens me to realize
That, long years hence, when I am gone,
The stars I view with eager eyes Shall still shine peacefully at dawn;
The trees that murmur as I pass
Shall but grow taller; and, alas!
The secret never betrayed
That I once rested in their shade.

It hurts me when I pause to think That, when a bit of crumbling clay,
I rest in low, forgotten grave,
There shall pass, as in my day,
Fond sweethearts tender, loving, true,
Whispering of love—that once I knew;
Unheeding me, who lie so still,
Though once I felt the self-same thrill.

Ah! long years hence, when I am gone,
The paths we tread today together,
Shall still be winding on their way Through stormy and through pleasant weather;
A pain is beating in my heart
As down that narrow path we go—
Two truths I own: That we must part,
And oh, I love you—love you so!

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 5.—Following the almost unanimous decision of the delegates to the American Federation of Labor convention here to remove as a delegate William S. Dunne, alleged Communist editor from Butte, Mont., the congress discussed today a proposal to revoke the charter of the Seattle Labor Council because of its alleged radical tendencies.

Delegate James Duncan, representing the Seattle organization, supported Dunne when he was ousted from the meeting yesterday by a vote of 369 to 9.

Dunne's expulsion followed a day of heated debate over the resolution calling for his ouster. He was branded by his opponents as a "traitor to the labor movement," a "representative of socialism and theories contrary to organized labor," and a "disseminator of lies of the greatest magnitude."

The charges followed an address Sunday night in which he denounced the organization officers and its general plan of operation. He spoke in the place of William Z. Foster, who originally was scheduled to address the meeting.

"Those who serve communism cannot also serve the American Federation of Labor," said Matthew Wool, vice-president of the federation, in interpreting the vote.

"President Gompers is largely responsible for this," Dunne said. "He plays on your ignorance and your prejudices and, if my judgment is correct, he despises you all," he told the convention.

The convention unanimously adopted the report of the resolutions committee in which the Ku Klux Klan and the fascist movement were denounced.

Notice Enlarges.

All members are requested to be present on Tuesday evening, October 9, 1935 to meet Judge Theo. O'Donnell of Kansas City, Mo., and Charles C. Gombert of Milwaukee, Pa. Judge O'Donnell has an important message to bring to us. Do not fail to be present. Buffet lunch will be served after the meeting.—Advertisement.—60ct-3t.

Germany Ready to Discuss Details Of Capitulation

BERLIN, Oct. 5.—The German government today took another step toward ending the Ruhr deadlock and resuming reparations payments.

Through its ambassadors at Paris and London, the Stresemann government inquired whether France and England were prepared to negotiate regarding necessary details. It was learned this afternoon.

Until the replies are received the government proposes to withhold its answers to a so-called industrial ultimatum delivered by big business interests headed by Hugo Stinnes.

Now Feels Like New Woman After Years of Sickness

Draco Succeeds Where Other Medicines Fail in Giving Woman Health

What is this life without good health? A very dreary uninteresting place, as everyone bothered with liver or stomach trouble will agree. But their ills are avoidable. There is no reason why any man or woman should suffer from stomach or liver trouble. These vital organs can be made and kept well, as the case of Mrs. Margaret Drossel of Trotter, Pa. proves.

"For the past few years I have been in a rundown condition," says Mrs. Drossel. "My stomach was all ways out of order. I had no appetite for food. I was very nervous, run my liver was in such a condition that my entire system was perpetually poisoned."

"Medicines and doctors did not seem to do me any good. I started taking Draco. The failure of other medicines only made the success of this medicine all the more marvelous."

"Four bottles of this medicine made a new woman of me. My liver was put in good condition and my stomach stopped bothering me. It is the one medicine that anyone bothered with stomach or liver trouble should take. It is certain to bring relief to everyone else just as it has to me."

"Everywhere you go these days you find someone praising Draco, for the great amount of good it has done in cases of stomach trouble, sluggish liver, weak kidneys, constipation, catarrh, rheumatism and as a blood purifier and reconstructive tonic."

Draco is being specially introduced by Connellsville Drug Company and sold by druggists everywhere. Also for sale by Hoffman's Drug Store in Scottsdale. Advertisement.

Blames Chicago For Japanese Quake

By United Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—The Japanese earthquake was caused by the failure of Chicago to build a subway back in 1890, according to a statement made by a St. Louis scientist.

The reasoning is simple he says. Had Chicago built a subway they would have been forced to use an electrolytic method of sewage disposal, in which event the drainage canal, from Lake Michigan to the Mississippi River, would never have been built.

The earthquake, he theorizes, was the result of an abnormal quantity of water being diverted from Lake Michigan to the Gulf of Mexico, through the drainage canal. This in turn caused a change of balance on the earth's surface that brought about the Japanese earthquake.

To this same state of affairs he also attributes the climatic changes that have affected the cotton crop.

Tuberculosis Is Increasing Toll Among Women

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Modern women are surrendering in increasing numbers to the deadly white plague, tuberculosis, because of their more active participation in life, according to the United States Public Health Service.

Heretofore, women have been less liable to the disease than men because of their more sheltered and less intense mode of living. The entry of women into business and other careers, however, has virtually destroyed the disparity between the male and female consumption death rate.

About one-third of all deaths between 20 and 40 are due to tuberculosis, chiefly the pulmonary variety, health service records show. The reason for this is explained by Dr. F. C. Smith, assistant surgeon general of the service.

"This period is the age of greatest stress, the time of extreme endeavor," he says. "Between 20 and 40 ardent desires, intense ambitions, passions, both good and evil, drive the human machine relentlessly."

"Pride, instinct and vanity, the desire to excel, to marry well, to be admired, all conspire to stimulate activity. The ambition to make money, obtain place and secure power leads to self-denial and to immoderate exertions."

"Whether a man's capital is brain or brawn, whether he has mental force or physical strength to invest, the mid-period of life finds him spending, spending lavishly of the best he has. Whether he succeeds or fails, his expenditures are limited only by his physical resources."

"With women no less than with men is this a critical period and it will not be strange if, owing to more active participation in life's struggle, the difference in the mortality rate from tuberculosis, which is now in favor of the female, should shortly disappear."

Reminders

Here are some items you should buy during Better Homes Week. They are comparatively inexpensive—yet add a lot to the attractiveness of your home.

We have just received a large variety of attractive book-ends. They do not cost a great deal and are very ornamental. And another thing—Christmas will soon be here and book ends make an acceptable gift. They are priced as low as $1.50.

Another thing which is especially appropriate to any one who lives in a small apartment is a breakfast set. We have a number of sets enameled in blue and white, gray and blue, etc. A very charming set is composed of a mahogany gale-leg table and four dainty Windsor chairs. The price is only $57.50.

You'll be needing heavier bedding right along now. The nights are getting colder and the frost is on the pumpkin. Don't wait until you are freezing. Buy your blankets and comforts now—and buy them at Zimmerman's. Blankets are priced as low as $3.95 for an all-cotton while the best grade all-wool blanket is only $12.50—Comforts are $4.50 up.

This Beautiful Ten Piece Walnut Dining Room Suite $295

An extremely substantial dining room set, built for long service. It is of the William and Mary design. Details of the cabinet work have received great attention and the finest grade American Walnut is used. It consists of a china closet, enclosed server, large buffet, oblong extension table, host chair and five diners. A rich, quiet looking suite.

Armstrong's Linoleum

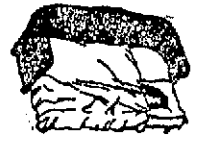

All that is attractive, durable and economical is embodied in linoleum bearing the Armstrong trade-mark.

And though Armstrong's Linoleum is of superior quality, you can install it in your home at a cost no greater than other floor coverings possessing fewer merits.

Also the convenient cedar-cover chest in the base for your bedding, etc. Fine choice of beautiful mohairs, tapestries, velours and leathers. Convenient terms if desired.

Problems of The High Cost of Living And of Avoiding Household Drudgery Solved By Soft Coal Miners' Wives

No wonder this miner's wife from Logan County, West Virginia, is a plump and healthy-looking person. Her expensive washing machine saves her all the labor of the family laundry; and, no matter how much she uses it, how much "lucor" it costs up, the cost will be the same—twenty-five cents a month. For she rents her home and her lighting from the coal company that employs her husband.

There is an old adage about the way to a man's heart. There should be a corollary to it now—the way to his peace of mind. You reach the first through his stomach; the second through his wife. Get her happily settled in her home, and you'll find it hard to move him.

Of course efficiency experts would take exception. In a brief recently submitted to the United States Coal Commission by the Bituminous Operators' Special Committee, such an expert says: "On one point all coal operators agree, and that is, that labor turnover is expensive, and furthermore, that the labor turnover is influenced approximately fifty per cent. by houses and living conditions."

To spare themselves this expense, operators put their capital instead into elaborate company towns, although such towns are necessarily built in remote regions and destined to last only a limited period, because the more you work a coal mine, the shorter its life becomes. For that reason miners themselves cannot be expected to build. Hence the origin of the company-owned town which the operator supports—because it pays him to keep his laborers contented. Regular towns they are not, with churches, schools, hospitals, "movie" theatres, pool rooms, clubs. The houses rent for a $1.00 or $2.00 a month per room for the same type of accommodations that cost two hundred percent. more in adjacent towns. No wonder the industry is overmanned! Combine those living conditions with the high wages paid for mining—a comparative study of thirty-six big industries, shows that "miners' salaries outstanding the other laborers by a big percentage—and you have two reasons why there are at least two hundred thousand more men in the coal business than it needs. Down-cold slaves exploited by heartless operators for their private benefit? That's how some people describe the miners. But can you see this miner's wife and her electric washing machine in that picture?

PLAN NEW SPAN ACROSS NIAGARA

Latest Structure Will Be for Use of Railroads Only.

RECALLS BUCKET AND CABLE

Another new steel arch bridge is to be built across the Niagara gorge to connect Canada with the United States. It will be the third bridge of that type erected at Niagara but the fourteenth bridge to span the river at that point. It will be for railway purposes only, and more massive in construction than either of the two steel arches now standing.

Ground has been broken on both sides of the river near the old bridge of the river men are at work stripping away the river bank and the face of the cliffs preliminary to the building of abutments on which the legs of the arch will rest. The abutments will be two on each side of the river built of concrete and faced with rock. Into these will be sunk the rods and plates to be used as anchorages, and great holes also will be sunk in the sides of the cliff for other anchorages.

Much excavation is necessary to clear the site, and on the New York bank of the river a great stone shore has been lowered over the cliff to bite away the rock and give water passage for centuries ever since the House of Lords fell went by as it plowed through the gorge from the high escarpment at Lewiston to the point where it now affords a scenic spectacle of falling waters unrivaled in the world.

Each bite of this stream shovel is dropped into a chute, which spills the dirt and rock into the river right at the beginning of the Whirlpool rapids and far outside the tracks of the Niagara Gorge railroad, over which a protecting shed has been erected of huge timbers so that no harm may come to the thousands who patronize the scenic route. The dumping of this rock on both sides of the river will have the effect of narrowing the channel at a point where it is none too wide to carry away all the water that plunges over the falls as well as that diverted for power purposes and returned to the stream in the gorge near the falls. Out in front of the spot where the bridge work is going on the river is only 85 feet deep and rushes by at 28 miles an hour as it swings the flood of the torrent into the whirlpool rapids.

This new bridge is to have a span of 640 feet in its main arch, compared with 560 feet of the present railway arch and 540 feet of the arch two miles up the river close by the falls. At each end of the main arch there will be a trestle span of 100 feet extending to the high bank on the New York side there will be an approach span of 101 feet and on the Canadian side another of 51 feet.

To Carry Two Tracks.

About 10,000 tons of steel will be needed and the bridge will be designed to carry a load of 7,000 to 8,000 pounds per running foot on each of the two railroad tracks. The height of the arch will rise 207 feet above the normal water level of the river below. The site selected for the bridge is between the lower steel railway arch used by the trains of the Canadian National railway and the cantilever bridge over which the trains of the Michigan Central cross the river. It is being erected to supplant the cantilever bridge, which will be torn down when the new arch is ready. This cantilever bridge is the only one of the type erected at Niagara. It was originally built in 1857 and has been strengthened since then, but no longer meets the needs of the trains of today. All the foundation work is to be completed this year in order that the erection of steel on the bridge proper may go forward next year.

When the railway steel arch was built in 1867 it was erected beneath the old railway suspension bridge at that point. Day by day the work went on and the arch grew in size without any interruption to traffic on either deck of the old bridge, the load having been shifted from the old to the new structure. The same methods were followed with the upper steel arch near the falls, which took the place of a steel suspension bridge in 1867-68.

This new arch will be the first of the kind erected at Niagara on a new site without the help of much help there was from an overhanging bridge of the suspension type.

There is a wealth of story in the Niagara bridge. In the latter part of the 19th century the river was a wasteland. Stages carried the pioneers to the Niagara border where the great gorge and rushing river were obstacles to progress. It was necessary to build a foot bridge up or down stream to cross by boat. The necessity of a bridge was apparent. Pioneers enlisted the aid of small boats to make connections between the cliffs by kite strings. Horner Walsh brought his kite on the New York bank after flying it high in Canada. Young Walsh lived on the New York side and to win it was necessary for him to go across the river in the twelfth year of his life and walk two miles down stream to the proposed bridge site. On the first attempt he succeeded in dropping the kite, but the string hung so low that it was caught by the ice line in the river and broken and so heavy was the flow of ice that for eight days Walsh was unable to cross the river.

Soon after that he tried the kite again and was successful with his kite, the Union. The slender kite string served to draw a heavier line across the gorge, which in turn was followed by heavier ropes and cables. On the cableway so formed an iron basket, now in possession of the Buffalo Historical society, was operated and passengers carried at $1.25 a head. This cableway helped build two bridges or platforms, one on each side of the midway, each three feet wide, over which crossings were permitted by foot at 25 cents for each person. While the second aerial bridge or platform was being built a windstorm swept down the gorge and wrecked it. Six men were working there at the time. Two reached shore, but the four others swung between the river and sky with only two strands of No. 10 wire to support them. It was then that William Ellis went out in the iron basket with a ladder, which he placed as a bridge between the basket and the platform on which the men were and over which they crawled to the basket and safety when they were drawn ashore.

Early Building Efforts.

The two platforms or bridges were used to assist in the building of another bridge, which gave way to the old wooden railway suspension bridge, completed in 1855. It was over this bridge that the locomotive London crossed the river on March 8, 1855. The way people of those days looked upon the completion of the bridge and the iron horse traffic under possible between the two countries was described by one man who witnessed the crossings on Sunday, March 18, 1855, and wrote:

"A wonderful violation of the Sabbath by long trains of freight cars with multitudes of men on top of them crossing and recrossing the bridge and shifting the freight will not soon be forgotten by those who recall the holy day. The curse of God will rest on this bridge is my firm belief."

It was on March 19, 1850, that the first passenger train, drawn by the engine David Upton, with Upton himself as a passenger, crossed the bridge. The lower deck of this bridge was used for foot and carriage travel and at each end of the bridge a sign read "No toll for foot passengers." A fine of $50 to $100 will be imposed for marching over this bridge in rank and file, or to music, or by keeping regular step. Bodies of men or troops must be ordered and kept out of step when passing over this bridge. No musical band will be allowed to play while crossing except when seated in carriages or wagons.

"Five dollars fine for every horse driven over this bridge at a faster rate than a walk."

"Five dollars fine for allowing teams or horses to stop on the bridge longer than absolutely necessary."

"The above fines will be rigorously exacted in all cases when the rules have been infringed."

The second narrow bridge grew heavier year by year and in 1850 the old wooden truss gave way to a steel truss, and six years later the stone towers were replaced by others of steel. The present steel arch took the place of the suspension bridge in 1897.

BEARS MAKE RAIDS ON FARMS

Residents in Pennsylvania Face Serious Problem.

Black bears are becoming so numerous along the Highland road a few miles from Kane, Pa., as to prove a serious problem to the farmers. The farms which line these roads are all near large tracts of forest lands, where wild game abounds and under the protection of the state laws the animals are becoming so tame in many instances that the farmers declare they are nuisances.

While members of the family of Juan I. Oosterling live on a farm near the hamlet of Highland Corners, were sitting on the porch, during the early evening recently, they heard a commotion in the barnyard a few hundred feet away. Horses were neighing, cattle lowing and hens cackling. Investigation showed a large black bear mauling its escape across the fields in the woods after having knocked over a beehive and scented out the honey. The family of C. W. Fairweather living about a mile from the Oosterling place, on a number of occasions have chased bears from their chicken house.

Find Razor Blades in Loaf of Bread. Accused of selling bread in which razor blades were found, Peter Kierer, a New York city baker, was haled into court at the request of Mrs. Mary McKen. The judge ruled that razor blades were not mentioned in the sanitation code and released the baker.

Shoots Gun From "Cop's" Hand. Confronted by a pistol in the hand of a policeman who caught him robbing a store at New York city a man shot the gun out of the officer's hand and escaped. The officer was not even scratched by the shot.

Touching for King's Evil. There was an old custom of "touching for the king's evil." In the "Chronicles of the Kings of England" one is told that the practice of touching for the king's evil (a kind of scrofula) had its origin in England at the time of Edward the Confessor. A young married woman was ordered in a dream, one reads in a simple old Saxon story, to go to the palace and touch the king. Joyous health followed. It was held that the cure proceeded from hereditary virtue in the royal line. Then, there have been scepticisms in England for a long, long time.

Made Maps in Ancient Days. Map-making goes back to the earliest known time. It was a branch of the early picture-writing practiced by savages. In Tahiti, for instance, the natives were able to make fairly good maps for the guidance of explorers. Maps with raised lines were in use in Peru before the conquest. The oldest known map is that of the Phoenician gold plates dating from the time of Sargon, the father of Rimenes II long before the time of Aristagoras and his bronze tablet on which was inscribed the circuit of the earth and all the seas and rivers then known.

ZR-3 Will Not Fly Before Spring

By United Press
BERLIN, Oct. 8.—Trial flights of the ZR-3, giant dirigible being constructed for the United States Navy, and which may be used to carry mail across the Atlantic, cannot be made until next spring the American embassy announced today.

Technical difficulties have delayed completion of the big ship. In the Zepplin works at Friedrichshafen. The new Maybach motor which will be used in the dirigible have not been completed.

To Be Loveable Eat Much Candy

By United Press
CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Lump sugar has been used to sweeten the disposition of a bawky horse. Confections will have the same effect on a bawky sweetheart, according to Mrs. Jean Prescott Adams, nationally known food expert.

In a lecture before the Homemakers' Guild here Mrs. Adams said "Candy, cake and other foods, containing a large percentage of carbon make people loveable."

"Fruity for pop" and "iron for beauty" are proven formulas, according to the dietitian.

Mrs. Adams also contends that proper food will keep grandpa so young that monkey plant operations will be a dead issue.

DEFINITION OF THE CYNIC

Person Who Does Not Believe Even Himself—Grouches Because He Can't Have His Fantasy.

A cynic is one who knows that his illusions will not come true, but thinks they ought to. He can accept neither illusions nor reality. He is still mad at having been waked from his day-dream. He grouches because he can't have his fantasy. It may even be that while his intelligence assures him that the illusions are false, the child in him continues to believe in them, and the resulting struggle between conscious disbelief and unconscious belief makes him harsh and critical.

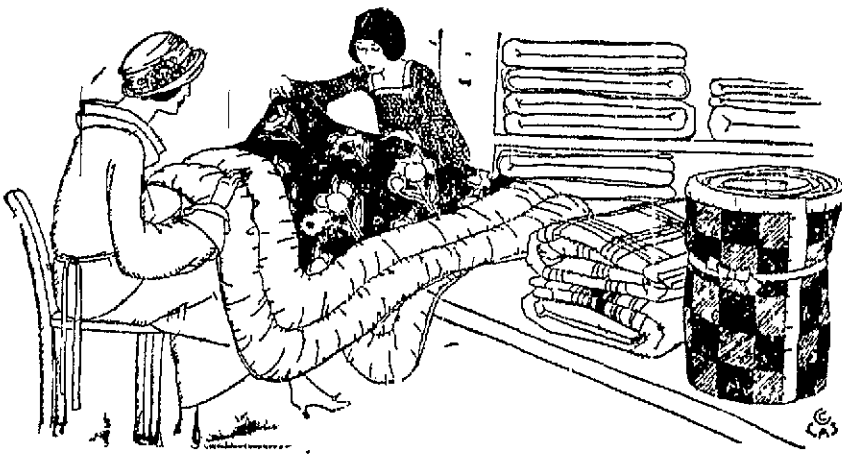

The man, for instance, who says bitterly that marriage is hell, hugs the belief that it ought to be heaven. A woman surgeon tells me that women sometimes come into her office detail their symptoms and expect her to know instantly what ails them. These are the very ones who will be bitter critics if she fails to perform a miracle, for their idea of a cure is still the child's "Mother, kiss it and make it well."

A cynic has not really discarded his illusions; he has only hidden them from himself.

It is a terrible thing to tell oneself lies. When one intentionally lies to others, the truth still exists in one's own mind, but when one lies to oneself all landmarks are swept away. Some very well-intentioned persons deceive themselves to such a degree that all their values are confused. Some women's idea of faith is believing what they know isn't so. The truth is too unpleasant to face.—Designer

McHUMPHREY Radiantfire

The HUMPHREY Radiantfire is the Most Efficient and Most Economical Gas Heater that You can Buy for YOUR Home!

The genuine HUMPHREY Radiantfire—made by the GENERAL GAS LIGHT COMPANY of Kalamazoo, Michigan—is the famous Gas Heater that has established new, high standards for heating efficiency.

It is fitted with a wonderful new safety burner that produces high flame temperature and intensified combustion. That's why the HUMPHREY Radiantfire will flood your home with glowing, radiant heat almost instantly after lighting.

And because this heat comes in contact with the lace-like heating elements it becomes further intensified—making the radiants glow and become intensely hot.

The HUMPHREY Radiantfire operates so economically that there is no unburnt gas and consequently no odor or dirt as produced by the ordinary Gas Heaters.

It will give you the greatest joy and comfort that you have ever had in your home—and at the same time save firing your furnace two months in the Fall and Spring.

Costs Less than 1c an Hour to Operate!

And not only does the HUMPHREY Radiantfire operate most economically—but it will give you from 4 to 6 times more heat than any other gas fire—insuring the greatest amount of heat at the lowest possible cost for fuel.

Come in and see for yourself just why the HUMPHREY Radiantfire operates so economically! Our present showing is so complete—embraces so many different styles and sizes—that you can suit your particular needs and requirements exactly.

Tailored Suit Is in Milady's Favor

New Blouse-Jacket Outfit, Paris Vogue, Bids for Popularity.

Jean Paton, in showing his advance collection for autumn and winter, has emphasized again the popularity of the tailored suit, both present and future, according to a Paris fashion writer in the New York Tribune. If New York follows the Paris vogue it will go in strongly for the blouse-jacket suit with plain or plaited skirt, often with a vest or blouse especially designed to harmonize. Paton's winter suits are trimmed with lamb's fur, beginning with expensive close-fuel Persian and the satin-like broadtail and rounding the full gamut of trimmer, shaved lamb and fabrics imitating all of these furs.

Lamb is the fur par excellence for tailored suits. The flat close cut or shaggy surface takes away the woolly look of other long-haired pelts. Their use on the tailored suit gives richness and becomingness without destroying in any way the tailored look of the garment.

Another point in favor of the lamb's wool is that it can be had in all the fashionable shades of beige, tan, brown and gray. One is not confined to the natural color, as all of these skins take dye beautifully.

In Paton's winter line very many of the tailored suits are in three-piece effect; that is, dress and jacket. Once the coat is removed the skirt, with its specially executed top, becomes a charming afternoon dress, smart enough for any dancing tea or informal dinner. The look is usually careless and the sleeves are nothing at all but slight extensions over the shoulders.

Watch Fob and Jacket Pocket. O'Rosen, the Place Vendôme ladies' tailor, who specializes in man-tailored suits, has had tremendous success in Paris. He has one model called O'Rosen, a perfectly plain, semi-fitting mannish tailored suit, of which he has made no less than a thousand to be worn in Paris. A charming note which O'Rosen adds to this suit is a Regence watch fob, made from pierced silver letters mounted on a black silk cord. This little fob dangles from the breast pocket of the suit and is in the initials or name of the wearer.

O'Rosen has another very popular model, called Bajama, which is quite plain in style with cleverly strapped seams in the semi-fitting jacket.

He has a number of belted models, a notable one being Shetk, which has a blouse-jacket with inverted plaits at each side of the back and front falling from a deep yoke line and inset with braid. The pockets and cuffs also are trimmed with inverted plaits and in sections of silk braid. Usually this suit is developed in navy blue serge with black silk braid. At least five hundred of this model are running around Paris. All smart Parisiennes crave at least one O'Rosen.

Paton makes many of his jackets in such a clever way that the lines of the jacket are in sequence with those of the skirt, to give the impression of a robe manteau. The jacket, however, may be removed, disclosing a dress with fancy silk top, or a blouse of silk.

The designer always places emphasis on tailored lines, both suits and dresses. Many of his tailored costumes are in so-called sports-wear style. In this line one finds brilliant colors, such as red and yellow. Jacket of this suit may have a collar or even a separate scarf, which matches the suit perfectly.

A most successful suit for autumn is in navy blue wool reps with wool embroidery of a brilliant color. The embroidery is in the form of a wide sleeve band and a band around the bottom of the short jacket.

Blue Suit, Brilliant Embroidery. A Bernard suit, in navy blue with brilliant wool embroidery, has a particularly interesting collar and cuffs, showing shirt ends hanging from corded bands.

Another smart suit from Bernard is of the type frequently noted on the Avenue du Bois on Sunday morning, at the corner called La Potinière or the "Gossip Corner." Just where the avenue is crossed by Medakof, the meeting place of fashionably dressed women after church. The suit is of gray cloth and made in a plain tailored effect.

The Charming Tailored Suit of Striped Lightweight Woolen.

Fall Suit in Navy Blue With Brilliant Embroidery.

for autumn. O'Rosen makes one of his greatest Paris successes in this material and color. It consists of a plain jacket and skirt trimmed with machine stitching on the belt of the jacket and the yoke of the skirt.

One Parisian maker of sports dresses is having considerable success with the sports dress in yellow and white checked krama or in all-white krama. When the two materials are combined the jumper blouse is of the novelty check and the plaited skirt is solid white.

A great deal of bright colored wool embroidery is used on suits for autumn. This wool offers an opportunity for every woman who cares for bright colors to express her love for them.

There is a pathetic story about a dear little woman who always wanted to wear bright colors, but stuck to her browns and grays for fear of her husband's criticism and ridicule. She thought, however, that God must have loved bright colors himself, because he made roses so red and grass so green. This may be an extreme case, but the fact remains that American women have been afraid of bright colors and have been content, as a nation, to dress themselves soberly.

98 OUT OF EVERY 100 WOMEN BENEFITED

An Absolutely Reliable Statement Important to Every Woman

Remarkable Results Shown by a Nation Wide Canvass of Women Purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. 50,000 Women Answer

For some time a circular has been enclosed with each bottle of our medicine bearing this question: "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

Replies, to date, have been received from over 50,000 women answering that question.

98 per cent of which say YES. That means that 98 out of every 100 women who take the medicine for the ailments for which it is recommended are benefited by it.

This is a most remarkable record of efficiency. We doubt if any other medicine in the world equals it.

Think of it—only two women out of 100 received no benefit—98 successes out of a possible 100.

Did you ever hear anything like it? We must admit that we, ourselves, are astonished.

Such evidence should induce every woman suffering from any ailment peculiar to her sex to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and see if she can't be one of the 98. The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Of course we know that our medicine does benefit the large majority of women who take it. But that only two out of 100 received no benefit is most astonishing.

It only goes to prove, however, that a medicine specialized for certain definite ailments—not a cure all—one that is made by the most scientific process, not from drugs, but from a combination of nature's roots and herbs, can and does do more good than hastily prepared prescriptions.

You see, we have been making, improving and refining this medicine for over 50 years until it is so perfect and so well adapted to women's needs that it actually has the virtue to benefit 98 out of every 100 women who take it.

Its reliability and recognized efficiency has gained for it a sale in almost every country in the world—leading all others.

able article of dress. Women who had always concealed their longing for gay hues suddenly realized the fascination of a pair of knitting needles and a collection of balls of gayly-colored yarns and wools.

Then the possibilities of this same yarn and wool caught their imaginations and they experimented wildly with equally bright scarves and with colored wool for decoration. There was no dress, they found, no hat no coat so drab that it could not be brightened by wool embroidery.

Knitted golf sweaters in gay colors took the place of the old-fashioned tennis and golf blazer which had hitherto flouted all the colors of the rainbow. Hotel glasses in the summer time blossomed with color as the balls of wool fell from the laps of the knitters on the golf course, the tennis court, the beach, and in the ballroom color appeared as if by magic, and no woman needed to be drab unless she preferred.

NOT TO BE COAXED

A Highlander from Tolmerry asked at the Oban railway station the price of a ticket to Kilmartin. "How awa?" replied Donald; "It's far ower dear. I'd rather wark!" and off he started. He had not proceeded far when the train came tearing along, whistling as it neared a station.

"Ye needna whistle for me," said Donald. "I made ye an offer since, and ye wadna tak it; see ye can gang on. I'm comin'!"—Canadian Magazine.

WHAT AND WHY OF AN EARTHQUAKE

Caused by Earth Waves Originating in Inner Regions.

TWO PRINCIPAL WAVE TYPES

Exactly what is an earthquake and what causes it?

These two questions very naturally pop into the minds of millions of persons when a catastrophe such as that which recently occurred in Japan overtakes some great city and causes thousands of deaths.

A bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society answers these questions.

"Superficially the name itself tells the story. It is no more nor less than a quaking of the earth, or a part of it; and theoretically any vibration at all fills the bill, from the tremor caused by a heavy truck passing along the street or a blast in a nearby quarry to the most violent convulsion that slides hills from their bases and opens yawning chasms in the earth.

Earth waves, in fact, are of many kinds. But going beyond the superficial, there is more that needs to be said even by way of a bare definition of an earthquake. The quake is so far as man experiences it is the coming to the surface of waves in the earth. These waves cannot be compared simply to the up-and-down waves of rippled water nor to the back-and-forth waves in the air that make sound. Even the simplest wave motion is more too easy to understand; and the waves in the varying earth materials that make themselves known to man as earthquakes are probably the most complex waves that exist. They are at once motions 'up-and-down' like sea waves; crosswise like the waves in a flagging flag; back-and-forth like sound waves; and in addition, they are a combination of all these motions.

The earth waves originate in some region down in the earth and start out in every direction. The waves from a possible dropped into a pond form growing circles on the surface of the water. But the waves in the earth being in a solid, attempt to form spheres that constantly grow outward. Soon, however, because of the difference in the rigidity of different rock materials, the form is not a sphere at all but a very irregular curved solid instead, more nearly that of a potato, perhaps.

Two kinds of waves. The two principal types of earth waves, those that travel like the pulsations in a bobbing spring, straight out; and those that travel like ripples and the waves in a flag, with a sideways motion, move at different speeds. The pulsing waves are the swifter, and of course the place where they make themselves felt first and most strongly is the surface area straight above their starting point.

This is technically the 'epicenter' or 'epicentrum.' The pulsing waves around the epicenter, alternately push up the surface of the earth and everything on it, and let them fall back. This is done very rapidly, and though the actual rise and fall may be only a fraction of an inch on rocky surfaces or a very few inches on soft soil, the violence may be like that from innumerable tremendous blows, and sufficient to shake down buildings.

"The 'sideways' waves follow along almost immediately after the first pulsing waves, and the two, with perhaps 'twisting' waves as well, then operate together, pushing and pulling the ground in the epicentral area, therefore, innumerable thrusts and pulls at the same time is jerked sideways and back for tiny distances in every direction.

"At points some distance from the epicenter the pulsing waves strike the surface at a slant and so approximate the effects of the 'sideways' waves and create new surface undulations. The shaking at the epicenter, too, throws the earth's surface there into undulating waves like ripples on a pond, and these also travel outward in widening circles. These surface waves are those of greatest motion, but least speed. They register the heaviest vibrations on the seismographs of the world.

How the Waves Start

"The second important question in regard to an earthquake is: What starts the waves?

"No one has ever seen an earthquake wave start outward from its center, and it is safe enough to say that no one ever will. But science has built certain hypotheses about the matter that seem to account satisfactorily for the happenings, and which are accepted pretty generally.

First, a dry stick as big as your arm in your hands and bend it until it breaks. At the snap waves will travel to your hands and usually give a quite painful sensation.

Hold an iron bar by one end and like the other sharply with a hammer. Again the vibrations carried to the hand may be violent enough to cause a stinging pain.

And if you should strike a small elastic cap with the end of a long stick, the cap will snap, and the vibration would probably bring the same 'tingle' to your fingers.

Women Adopt the Colorful Knitted Tie from the Masculine Fashion

With the tremendous growth of the vogue for knitted outerwear this fall, the knitted tie has found its place in the feminine mode, and is now being adopted to the blouse worn with the tailored suit, the slip-on sweater, the knitted jacket and the figured silk blouse worn so gracefully beneath the drappings of the new peasant frocks.

Perhaps the most significant feature of this new knitted tie is the beautiful loring. From Egypt have been borrowed subtle blendings of old red, gold, brown and peacock blue, cleverly knitted into diagonally striped designs. There are new tones of blue and severely simple patterns almost classic in design.

The newest knitted ties have the popular open ends and are well by the masculine element. And the ties especially adapted to women's blouses are considerably shorter in length, despite the fact that they are purchased at the same counter where the men's ties are sold.

A combination of silk and cotton mixture is a combination which the dark-eyed girl should not overlook in selecting her sports clothes. The business girl may accept the jauntyness of a tie-tailor-made by the addition of a pretty knitted tie for her blouse collar. And the college girl can show her loyalty to her alma mater in no more personally attractive way than choosing her college hues in the knitted tie which she wears at college sports occasions.

For the jagged collar of the figured silk peasant blouse now used with the cunning jumper frocks, designers are taking the knitted tie as a finishing touch. Where the blouse boasts an elaborate design, the tie should be of a suitable plain color. Where the blouse is a solid color, one may select the most intricate design for the tie. This rule should be followed in selecting the new knitted tie so as to avoid ineffective incongruities of pattern.

Old gold flowers are knitted into a dark brown silk tie and worn with a blouse of faint yellow. The three shades of yellow lend a new costume note to what we once knew as the white shirt.

To brighten up your last season's topcoat, just add a bit of color to the neckline of your blouse. Tanglers diagonally striped with old blue, violet with a touch of green, bisect with old gold and orange stripes or a neatly figured pattern knitted in two shades of your favorite color, will do wonders toward making a passé costume look quite new and up-to-date.

HELPS FOR "GAS" CON GAME

German Police Arrest Man Who Victimizes Factory Owner.

Not so old as the "lost pocketbook" trick, but just as effective in separating the unwary from their wealth is the "artificial gasoline" game, according to the German police of Berlin who have arrested Leopold Vitz, alias Baron von Orion.

Orion, the police declare, victimized the manager of a Friedrichshafen fu-lory to the tune of millions of marks with his tale of how he could make gasoline out of water. The water "trick" by Orion, who overcame his dupe with thick photographs showing him in the company of the ex-kaiser, remained water. The marks were converted into wine and a general good time.

FINDS $1,000 IN "BOOK"

Secondhand Man in London Returns Treasure Trove to Owner.

The widow of the late John Troutbeck, for many years coroner for Westminster, England, had such a surprise when a box, shaped like a book, containing £200 ($1,000), was returned to her that she faints. It appears the "book" was among a number which Mrs. Troutbeck sold for £3 ($15), thinking they were old medical works of her late husband's and of little value. The bookkeeper on examination discovered one had a lock and on opening it found a £5 note and 100 £1 notes, which he returned to the widow.

THREE IN YACHT TOUR WORLD

Twenty-five Ton Craft Sets Out From Kington, Ireland.

Amidst hearty cheers and escorted by a fleet of yachts, the 25-ton yacht Sunrise recently left Kington, Ireland, on a trip around the world. The crew, composed of Conar O'Brien, owner and captain; E. R. Hodges, mate; and S. D. Lavelle, hope to complete the journey under canvas by way of New Zealand, which they anticipate reaching before Christmas. From there they will proceed by Cape Horn to several Argentine ports, and expect to reach Ireland again by September, 1924.

Science Has No Limits.

Every year adds to our scientific knowledge yet at the end of each year it seems that there are no unexplored discoveries yet to be made. A century ago the French physicist, Flourens, said electrical discoveries had reached a point where no important steps remained. Yet electricity was in its infancy and Michael Faraday in his basement room was working on the relationship between electricity and magnetism which led to the dynamo and the radio, says the Kansas City Star.

As late as 1894 a university catalogue contained the statement that future progress in science was to be expected only in working out principles already discovered. In the following year Roentgen discovered the electron. It was thought long ago that all the beasts of the jungle had been discovered and named, yet the skeleton of the dinosaur of the Tertiary century have been more numerous than in any previous century and they have been greater.

CONFERENCE ON CITIZENSHIP HAS FOUR OBJECTIVES

To Emphasize Importance of the Observance of AN LAW.

Special to The Courier.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—To know the facts whether pleasant or otherwise is the first objective of the Conference on Citizenship in the interest of prohibition called by a committee of 75 men and women of national prominence to meet at Washington October 13, 14 and 15. There are four objectives which express the purpose of the committee, which will be representative of the moral, religious and philanthropic forces of America and will be in the interest of the continuance of the 18th Amendment and the enforcement of the Volstead Act. The three others are:

To solidify moral sentiment into vital action behind a working, vigorous program.

To recover the morale of the moral and Christian forces upon the prohibition issue.

The detailed statement in connection with the objectives is as follows:

"The first objective is to know the facts. Roy L. Haynes, the prohibition commissioner of the United States government, will meet the delegates in the opening session and lay before them the calm, accurate facts at his command. Wild and unverified statements are current, in some instances meant to give the impression that the 18th Amendment and the Volstead Act are both dead letters in the realm of legislation. Others, perhaps, are equally as misleading in the opposite view. The conference will seek to know facts whether pleasant or otherwise."

"The second objective is to solidify moral sentiment into vital action behind a working, vigorous program. The law-breakers and the liquor interests are going forward in accordance with a well wrought out, prearranged plan. All friends of good government realize that there must be an equal degree of efficiency in combating the lawlessness of the liquor elements."

"The third objective is to recover the morale of the moral and Christian forces upon the issues at stake. The enthusiasm of the moral and Christian forces knew no limits during the long years of winning the struggle for the Constitutional Amendment which outlawed the manufacture and sale of liquor. But other important questions have arisen, and these, taken with a natural relaxation from the strain, have somewhat lessened the pressure upon this particular theme. The conference will seek to realize the necessity for the same conscientious zeal for enforcement which was manifest for enactment."

"The fourth objective is to demonstrate the power of the law-abiding sentiment of America. By a strange and mysterious psychology in the realm of publicity, bootleggers and rum runners have occupied more 'front page' space in the past few months than all the law-abiding people combined. The conference will seek to demonstrate the fact that the United States has in its citizenship 5,000 honest, true lovers of law and order to every one law-breaker."

Governor Clifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania will preside and make an address.

Among the speakers will be Senator William E. Borah, Louis E. Marshall of New York, Governor R. Lee Trinkle of Virginia, Justice Florence Allen, Superior Court of Ohio, Warren S. Stone, grand chief, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, William Jennings Bryan, former secretary of state, former Governor Henry J. Allen of Kansas, former Governor Carl E. Milliken of Maine, Assistant Attorney General Mahel W. Wheeler, Rabbi Stephen Wise of New York, Bishop William F. McDonnell of Washington, President Clarence A. Barbour, Rochester Theological Seminary, and Bishop George C. Clement of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made

Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have the very best remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families the world over feel that they could hardly keep home without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Take a pint bottle, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, like the phlegm, breaks the mucus, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN
And so do the children

Some Families Are Never Ill

FORTUNATE are the children whose parents fully realize the seriousness of constipation. Hospital records prove that 75 per cent of all disease originates in bowel obstruction, or constipation, among children, because of it; school children are hampered in their studies; grown people are made 25 per cent less efficient; elderly people's blood pressure increases 28 per cent. Realizing this Mrs. Carrie Moss of 1714 Church St., Lynchburg Va., Mr. Louis C. Graft of 1569 Winton Ave., Lakewood, Ohio, and innumerable others, give a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at the first sign of constipation, and have no sickness among their children.

Largest Selling Laxative

Every up-to-date family medicine chest should contain a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and palatable aromatics, a prescription written 30 years ago by Dr. W. B. Caldwell, who practiced medicine 47 years. You can buy a bottle in any store where medicines are sold, and the cost is less than a cent a dose. We guarantee that if you will give Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to a child or for a few nights to an adult it will relieve any case of constipation no matter how chronic, or your money will be refunded.

Use it once and you will never again take constipating drugs in candy form, colored or salts. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a vegetable laxative free from opiates and narcotics. It can be safely given to infants, yet it effectively moves the bowels of adults. It acts gently; does not cramp or gripe. Keep it in the house and use it for any indication of bowel obstruction such as constipation, biliousness, torpid liver, dyspepsia, pimples and like skin eruptions. Give it early and it will break up a fever or a cold overnight. A spoonful proves it.

SOFT COAL LOSES AS ANTHRACITE GAINS OUTPUT

Decrease Week September 29 Was 429,000 Tons; Continued Week October 6; Coke Declines.

Special to The Courier.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The weekly report of the United States Geological Survey shows that the resumption of mining in the anthracite region has caused a slight reaction in the production of bituminous coal. Increased demand in anticipation of a stoppage of anthracite had carried production of soft coal to 11,737,000 tons in the last week of August. In the week of September 29, it declined to 11,308,000 tons, a decrease of 429,000 tons.

The downward tendency was continued into the week October 1-6. Preliminary telegraphic reports for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday indicate that the output for the week will hardly reach 11,000,000 tons and may fall as low as 10,700,000 tons. In spite of the reaction, the present rate of daily output compares favorably with preceding years. Though below the record years 1918 and 1920, it is well above 1919, 1921 and 1922. So heavy has been the production during the past summer that the output for the year to date is now ahead of any preceding year excepting only 1918.

Production during the first 219 working days of 1923 was 413,435,000 tons as compared with 371,015,000 tons in 1922, 302,047,000 tons in 1921, 351,713,000 tons in 1919 and 412,117,000 tons in 1918, the year of largest output. The week ended September 29 was marked by a decrease in the production of bituminous coal. Present estimates place the total output at 821,000 net tons, against 835,000 tons in the week preceding. The decline was general in all the coke-producing districts, but the largest decrease occurred in Pennsylvania and Ohio. The decrease of 9,000 tons in that district was doubtless due in part to the withdrawal of the demand for domestic coke as a substitute for anthracite with the resumption of work at the anthracite mines on September 19. Production in the Connellsville region according to The Courier totaled 232,950 tons against 239,550 tons in the week ended September 16.

Production by states, as compared with the corresponding week in 1922, was as follows:

	1923	1922

Your Favorite Ice Cream Sundae

In An Individual Package

Direct from the freezers to you and as clean and sanitary as if you made it yourself, Hagan's Individual Ice Cream Sundae marks a big step forward in the modern scientific packaging of Ice Cream.

You will appreciate the fact that from the time the sanitary cartons are filled in our factory until you open the sealed cover to eat the delicious contents of the package, no hands touch it. The entire process of making is done by machinery.

We lay no claim to being the originators of this new idea. It was first offered to the people by a big manufacturer of New Jersey where it met with such instant success that other progressive concerns were quick to take it up.

And, as only the best that money can buy or human skill produce, is good enough for the thousands who enjoy our products, we allowed neither expense nor hard work to stand in our way of getting this delicious Ice Cream Sundae to you. Ask for Hagan's Individual Ice Cream Sundae at your dealer's.

At the Theatres

The Paramount

"THE RAGGED EDGE," with Mimi Palmeri and Alfred Lunt in interesting roles, provides splendid entertainment today at this theatre. Wednesday and Thursday, "Bavu" will be shown.

"Bavu" was Earl Carroll's play which was an overnight sensation on the New York stage as presented by him at his own theatre. Two master story technicians of Universal City, Raymond L. Schrock, scenario editor, and Albert G. Kenyon, prepared the screen version.

"Bavu" was written as the result of Earl Carroll's inability to find a suitable play to open the beautiful new Earl Carroll Theatre in New York City. For weeks and months he searched for some dramatic gem that would be fitting to usher into light the most magnificent theatre in New York. Finally he gave up in despair and determined to write one of his own. The results exceeded his fondest hopes and he was acclaimed by press and public as a clever playwright as he was a manager.

The Soisson

"DOWN TO THE SEA IN SHIPS," one of the most marvellously amazing attractions ever offered owners of motion picture theatres, is the leading attraction today and tomorrow at this theatre.

The picture, which is designed to perpetuate the golden days of whaling, was produced at the risk of many human lives and is replete with romance, adventure and thrills. Managed by a crew of expert whalers, with motion picture actors and cameramen, the "Charles W. Morgan," the oldest whaling vessel afloat, cruised the Caribbean Sea for more than two months in the making of this production.

The story from the pen of John L. E. Fell is told in New Bedford, Mass., in the heyday of the whaling industry. Thomas Allen Dexter, who is portrayed by Raymond McKee, is in love with his childhood sweetheart, Patience Morgan, depicted by Marguerite Courtot. How he fulfills the stern code of the whalers by launching his harpoon into a 90-ton whale furnishing one of the most amazing scenes ever photographed. All the details of his thrilling encounter with a 90-ton "bull" whale, in which the enraged mammal charges the boat, hurling its occupants into the sea, and smashing the boat to splintering wood, is graphically and realistically shown.

Through scenes replete with danger and thrills, runs a heart interest appeal that bills fair to surpass any story ever adapted to the screen. And those who view this production are assured of seeing eight reels of the most amazing screen entertainment ever shown.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, featuring Marguerite de La Motte, will be shown.

The Orpheum

"BLUEBEARD'S EIGHTH WIFE," showing today, Wednesday and Thursday at this theatre, is a Paramount picture with Gloria Swanson in the leading role.

The garden spot of California, known to globe trotters and tourists as "California's Eden," will be seen for the first time in motion pictures when "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife" was produced.

This beautiful country is at Monterey, California, a resort overlooking the Pacific Ocean. Critics who have studied the scenes taken at Monterey, call them the most marvelous examples of photography ever flashed on a screen.

One in particular stands out almost as a work of art, an individual tribute to Alfred G. Gals, the cameraman who "shot" the scene. It is of Miss Swanson before she dives from the cliff into the sea, forty feet below. Across the top of the cliff can be seen the fleecy clouds of the sunset. Against this, outlined like a painted figure stands Miss Swanson, arms uplifted. Below, the waves dash against the cliff side, then turn back in maddest swirls of snowcaps.

This is a story of a French girl who marries an American multi-millionaire "Bluebeard" who has already divorced seven wives. Miss Swanson, however, in the role of Mona de Brice, determines she will never be John Brandson's (Huntley Gordon) eighth wife. She tantalizes him until he is almost frantic. Mona decides to give her husband ample grounds for a divorce. But Brandson who loves his wife checkmates her and all misunderstandings are cleared away with love triumphant at the finish.

Friday and Saturday "The Iron Trail," by Rex Beach, will be shown.

This Prescription For Kidney Ills

Five years ago Dr. Carey said, "When backache comes, get after your kidneys—and don't waste any time." "Right at the start, go to your druggist and ask for Dr. Carey's Marshbrook Prescription No. 777; take it as directed until backache ceases and your eyes are clear and bright."

For more than 40 years Dr. Carey specialized in diseases of the kidney and bladder, and when, in the height of his remarkable busy life, he decided to dispense his most effective kidney and bladder prescription through the better druggists, he helped thousands who could not afford to go to him for treatment.

Thousands of unobservant people have kidney ailments and never know it until too late. High colored urine and puffy eyes tell the story.

If you even suspect—start today with Dr. Carey's Marshbrook Prescription No. 777. It will drive the poisons from your kidneys and Connellsville Drug Company, C. Roy Hetzel know all about it.—Advertisement.

High School Getting Ready For Johnstown; Team Feels It Has Chance for Victory

Flood City Aggregation Having a Hard Time Getting Started This Year.

CHANGE MADE IN LINE

The Conneltsville High School, with the Washington game now behind it, has a brighter outlook in the future. Johnstown is the next opponent on the program. For many years the Flood City team has swept the Coker defense aside and walked the outfit. Last year, at Johnstown, the game was won only by a narrow margin. This year, with the game at home, it is felt Conneltsville has a big chance of another victory.

Conneltsville has now won from Johnstown for the past seven or eight years. A few seasons ago the team did hold the Flood City aggregation to a 0-0 score.

This year, comparative scores would indicate Conneltsville has a fighting chance. The local team has now played three games, two of which were lost and one ending in a tie. The boys are anxious to break the jinx that has kept them from crossing the goal line.

Windsor defeated Johnstown on Saturday by a score of 32-0. Conneltsville, the week previous, won over the Flood City aggregation also. Thus it looks as though the two old rivals meeting on Saturday will have a merry time fighting for the honors.

Both teams will be in the game "up to their necks." Each wants a victory badly and it would suit the Cokers to trounce Johnstown. Orange and Black victories over the Azules and Black team have been few since the schools began playing each other. The team will not be consoled into overconfidence, but the fire of battle will be worked to such a point this week that Johnstown will find a set of eleven determined boys facing it this week-end.

Of Interest to Fans.

Coach Lerew is still not quite satisfied with his line. He is making another change this week in the hope that it will make the first defense stronger. Once he has a good defense more time can be given the offense. The Cokers, at the beginning of the second half Saturday, demonstrated they really did have the punch, but it must be perfected.

Many local fans are planning on going to Pittsburgh Saturday to witness the West Virginia University-Pitt football clash. It is expected "Pop" Warner will have developed a running attack by this week-end as his chief ground gainer in the games played so far has been the aerial method.

Conneltsville's schedule does not look quite as "tough" since reports of the defeats of Greensburg, Monaca, Latrobe and Johnstown have come in. Indiana, however, not expected to be such a stiff adversary, has been showing unexpected class.

South Brownsville High plays Dunbar Township High on Saturday. Ray Henry, a former local glider, is assistant coach of the South Brownsville team.

The brilliant playing of J. P. Rupp, former Conneltsville High School football coach, made possible scoring by Dickinson College Saturday against Annapolis. The game ended 13-7 in favor of the Navy. Rupp, quarterback, made a run of 52 yards for a touchdown.

MODERN MEDICINE VS. QUACKS

Scientific Progress is Rapidly Driving the Charlatans Out of the Field.

When the doctor gently chides the patient who has wasted valuable time chasing the latest advertised panacea, the victim always has a "come-back." He—or, more often, she—retorts that the medical profession is always opposed to new methods of treatment. There is no gainsaying the fact that ancient and medieval medicine was narrow and ecclesiastical in its attitude. At that time, medicine was not a science, but a more or less imperfect art. It attracted, it is true, many brilliant minds, but it also had in its ranks a large preponderance of mystics and charlatans.

What we know today as the science of medicine is of recent growth. The application of modern scientific methods to the study of the human body and its processes has produced results as far-reaching in their scope as any accomplished in other fields of human endeavor. Moreover, by applying the methods of the Twentieth century both to the study of medicine and to the organization of the medical profession, charlatanism and mysticism have become the exception instead of the rule in medicine. The modern medical quack and faddist is but an excrescence.

The result of all this has been to raise enormously the standard of the collective judgment of the medical profession. A careful review of modern medicine will show that in not one instance has the mass judgment of physicians been at fault in condemning methods of treatment that have failed to meet the exacting requirements demanded by the doctor of today.

SIGHT-SEEING UNDER THE SEA

Boat With Glass Bottom Enables Passengers to View Wonderful Scenery.

The fairy-like beauty of the seabed surrounding the Society Islands, adjoining Tahiti, have been opened to visitors, like a beautiful picture gallery, by the cleverness of an enterprising boat builder at Papeete, who has constructed a boat with a glass bottom.

The passengers sit along both sides of the boat in such a way as to enable them to see through the glass bottom as one would through a window.

The boat is driven out to the reefs, which are only a mile or two from the shore, by means of a small motor. When the reefs are reached the boat is either rowed or driven by the motor very slowly over the reefs, the beauties of which can be vividly seen.

It is a veritable fairyland, with wonderful shapes and colors thronged by gorgeously colored tropical fish during in and out among the corals. The scene can best be likened to a miniature landscape viewed from above, whose mountains of coral come close to the bottom of the boat, the hillside being represented by growths of coral looking like Japanese dwarf trees, but in pinks and whites instead of green.

Here and there are caves of every size and shape, in and out of which fish dart.

Further interest is added to the trip by the Tahiti boat boy diving overboard and disappearing himself under the boat among the coral reefs and fishes.

URGES "CAT" FOR CRIMINALS

London Official Says Brutal Crimes Would End if Old Method of Punishment Was Restored.

Spain first adopted the "garrote" for the execution of criminals. This was a collar compressed by a screw, which caused death by piercing the spinal marrow. In London some years ago footpads pursued a somewhat similar method, one nearly suffocating the victim while the other rammed his pockets. The popularity of this form of criminality was obliterated by the infliction of the "cat" upon all rogues proved to have become gamblers. Recently at the Old Bailey, which court exercises jurisdiction over from 7,000,000 to 8,000,000 people, the recorder, Sir Ernest Wild, K. C., entertained a number of American lawyers, and, in the course of his speech, he expressed regret that in England there was such prevalence of crimes of violence, which might be the aftermath of the war. The crime of robbery with violence, he added, had been greatly reduced during the last year by the infliction of the "cat" in proper cases. Certain ruffians, with no respect for age or sex, who committed these crimes, could only be strongly punished in this way. He had no doubt if the "cat" could be inflicted for armed burglary the same happy result would follow.

Used Oil in Old Babylon.

The oil industry had its birth in the United States about 1858, when crude oil was analyzed and a well was drilled at Titusville, Pa.

But the Indians, and the races before them, knew crude oil. Thousands of years before Christ, Babylonian and Chaldean masons used it in semi-liquid form for cementing the bricks of their towering walls, and it was used in building the pyramids, says the Indianapolis News. Herodotus mentions a well from which three substances, asphalt, salt and oil, were pumped.

Oil from natural springs in Sicily was used in lamps in the temple of Jupiter at Rome, and the wealthy illuminated their homes with it. The ancient Chinese and the Persians used it for light and heat, and it enters into the preservatives of the Egyptian embalmers.

First Ghetto Was in Italy.

The ghetto was the Jewish quarter of an Italian city. Pope Paul IV, in 1555, established the ghetto of Rome, and it existed until 1858, when it was removed to make way for the new suburb of the Tiber. The Jews were at one time closely confined to that section of the city, and were not allowed outside its limits unless distinguished from the Christians by wearing the men a yellow hat, and the women a veil of the same color. The ghetto was inclosed by a wall, and the gates thereto were locked at night.

Pulsations of the Earth.

It has been proved that, in addition to the many tremors due to seismic or earthquake influences which modern delicate instruments detect, there are certain pulsations that seem to have some other origin. Some of these are diurnal, and are probably due to the influence of the sun and the weather on the ground. In wet weather the slides and bottom of a valley carry a heavier load than the bounding ridges; in dry weather the case is reversed.

Father Was a Hard Worker.

"What does your father do, little girl?" asked the great lady. "Oh, he works awful hard," replied the little girl. "He works at the custom house."

"Ah, yes," replied the lady, "the last time that I returned from Europe I thought that his duties were rather heavy."

Vacations.

"Yeah, my wife and I have decided that for our vacations she will stay at home and I'll go to the seashore." "Shakes! You call that a vacation?" "Sure it is. She won't have to get up mornings and cook my breakfast and I won't have to get up and eat it. Ain't that a vacation?"—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Old Fashioned Coal Mining Camps Are Changed Into Model Towns As The Industry Keeps Step With Spirit of Industrial Progress

You remember those depressing stories of coal mining "camps" and the pictures of the wretched hovels, in which the "miner" and his half-starved children begged miserably, ignorant of the ordinary amenities of American life? Look at these camps brought up-to-date, as shown in the above photographs taken in the mining town of Jerome, Pa.

At the top is the school playground, with the minor children furnished by their fathers' employer. Below is an employee, the evidence of his trade still conspicuous on his person, "passing the time of day" with two neighbors' children on his way home to wash. Don't you wish that every little girl in the U. S. A. might be as plump, pretty and appropriately dressed as these two?

Redeemed business methods, the knowledge that by the end of the year an employee to have his own comfortably housed, decently clothed and generally happy, have wrought an enormous change in appearance, even among those in the past few years. Naturally, the children's needs are among the first to be met.

According to a brief recently submitted by the Pennsylvania Department of Public Safety to the United States Coal Commission, ninety-seven percent of 188 company-owned towns investigated by experts had baseball fields. Sixty percent of them had movie houses; more than half had playgrounds, and more than a quarter had boy scout troops. Every town had a school of its own or one easily accessible in a nearby community. And the schools in towns built by the companies had a longer school year, better paid teachers, and were generally far superior to those of independent mining communities.

And as another myth is exploded, so far is the soft-coal mines from being the "under-the-ground" in American life that investigations recently made show he is better paid than his brother in thirty-seven other industries. His pay is twice as much as in many of the other power of seventy-four percent in nine years. His working hours are seven longer than eight and eight not more than six. His week when he lives in a company-owned house averages about $15.00 for accommodation that would cost two hundred percent more in another town. No wonder the mining profession is overrepresented.

CROOKS FOOL YOU WITH DISGUISES

Clear Criminals After Their Appearance Before the Crime.

IDENTIFYING MARKS ARE FAKED

Every experienced detective knows that as a general rule the unscrupulous crook commits a crime and then attempts to effect a disguise, while the professional criminal disguises himself and then commits a crime. The novice tries to escape while in disguise, while the professional relies upon his natural appearance to escape detection and arrest.

Years of experience with criminals have taught the police throughout the world to be suspicious of unusual facts when personal descriptions of criminals are pronounced for their information and guidance. Crooks know if they can make it appear that they have a long mark on the right cheek and can expect that mark frequently, that that mark will make such an impression that when a description is prepared later nothing else can be remembered. And, of course, after the crime, the crook removes the "mark."

Years ago when beads were common, false whiskers and false mustaches were used a great deal by criminals. Today tight-fitting wire have taken their place. A criminal is described as having coal-black hair. The removal of his wig reveals him a blond.

Crooks also know that nine persons out of ten cannot describe either a man or woman. If any details are remembered they are usually details about dress, which mean nothing.

Unable to Agree. Prof. Hugo Munsterberg, the famous Harvard professor, who was one of the profoundest students of criminal psychology in any other country ever produced, conducted numerous experiments to prove that most men and women can't repeat accurately what they see. One of his favorite experiments was to have two men unexpectedly stage a mock fight in his classroom. After the men had been ejected from the room and all was quiet, Doctor Munsterberg would ask his students to describe what they had seen. And the conflicting details that were submitted were startling.

Criminals have been known to disguise their walk. Policemen particularly know that a man's walk is an easy method of identification. Criminals have been known to go into banks and stores with a limp and with some definite mannerism which would identify that person personally if the method of walking was real. The unusual walk immediately attracts attention and other facts are ignored.

One of the keenest students of criminology in this country, Charles F. Mohr, tells of a forger who was always described as a very full-faced, fat man. He was frequently shadowed only to be lost in buildings. Detectives would wait on the outside for the return of the fat man, little knowing that the shadowed, thin man was left while they were watching was the man they wanted. It developed that this man was a rubber peddler beneath his overcoat and that with a hand pump he blew this up, giving him the appearance of an enormously fat man. With the aid of cotton he made his face look full, also. He stuffed cotton in his mouth over his cheek bones. A study of the rogues' gallery pictures of this man is very amusing.

Crooks have been known to pretend that they had clubfoot, stiffened arm, deformed hand, and, of course, these details caught the eye of the persons they came in contact with and other details which should have been remembered escaped them.

Marked Faked. The average person will immediately notice a birthmark, a wart, or tattooing on one's face, neck or hands. Crooks know this and have succeeded in throwing police off their trail by faking such marks.

A well-known railway pickpocket in England, at the moment of effecting a big theft, made on his cheek a large mole with carpenter's glue mixed with ground leather.

Criminals who have had real identifying scars have been known to commit crimes and then to have gone to dishonest so-called beauty doctors, and had their scars removed. This resulted in certain studies being made in France, which led to the discovery that if the skin is beaten with the palm of the hand gently but firmly for a few minutes any old scars will be revealed. The old scar will appear white and in its original shape, while the skin around the scar will be red.

Whenever a criminal commits a crime he usually watches the papers for a description of himself. He notes every detail and then proceeds to alter himself so that the description will not fit. It has been long debated whether it was wise to publish descriptions of criminals because such descriptions always fall into the hands of the criminals themselves.

Fight Followed Selection From Banana Song.

A quotation from a popular song sent a Tiffin (Ohio) salesman to a physician's office for treatment and caused the arrest of a grocery clerk on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

William W. Gilliam, salesman for an ice cream company, went into a West End grocery, where he mumbled the words, "Yes, we have no bananas." A clerk dropped a sack of crackers and planted his fist against Gilliam's right eye, scoring a knockout.

John W. Crumpton was arrested shortly afterward, charged with being that clerk. Mayor Adolph Unger placed Crumpton under $100 bond to appear for hearing. Clerk Crumpton pleaded not guilty to a charge of assault with intent to kill.

This is ARCOLA WEEK

See ARCOLA tonight!

Many Heating Contractors who display this sign are keeping their stores open evenings this week, so that husbands and wives can see ARCOLA together.

But, only 18 homes in Connellsville can have ARCOLA

THIS SMALL number of ARCOLAS allotted to this city will be sold this week—ARCOLA WEEK. Because of the shortage of heating equipment, no more ARCOLAS will be available until Spring.

We have not advanced the price. While they last, you can buy ARCOLA at these low prices, $180 to $550, completely installed, depending on the number of rooms in your home.

Think what this means! An American Radiator in every room; no rooms too hot; no rooms too cold; every room evenly warmed. And if your home is not warmed by radiators, ARCOLA will cut your bill a third and pay for itself in the money you save.

This is a great opportunity for a few homes. Will yours be one of the few? Go to your Heating Contractor today—or this evening; let him tell you just what ARCOLA will cost completely installed in your home, and how quickly and easily it can be put in.

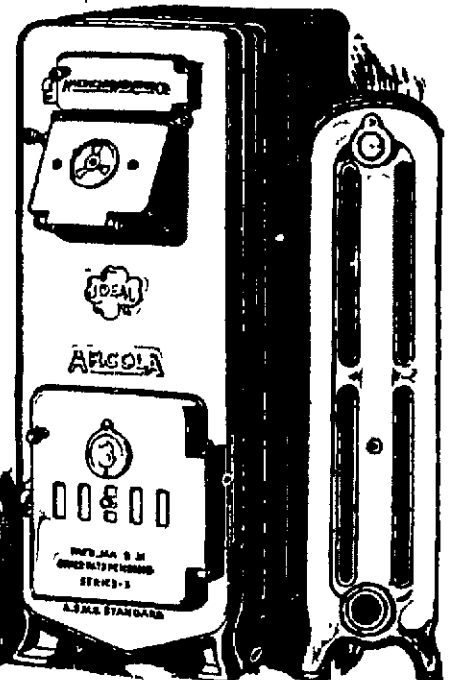

Go, before they're gone.

SCIENTIST HAS NARROW ESCAPES

Whose Bandits Endanger Life of Washington Plant Specialist.

ENTIRE TOWN IS WIPED OUT

Dangerous adventures and narrow escapes from bandits are befalling Joseph R. Rock, Washington scientist, who entered Yunnan province, China, on a quiet search for plants, but now faces dangers from which he writes, "God knows where I will emerge."

Mr. Rock went to the remote Burma-Szechwan frontiers of China as head of a National Geographic society expedition which hoped to bring back numerous plants for American introduction, study the mystery of how American native corn apparently was transplanted there before 1492, and to seek a blight-resisting chestnut tree. He is the man who found the chauliognon tree, oil from which is used to treat leprosy.

From Likiep, China, he writes, under date of June 11:

"I just returned from an exciting trip to the Lachung salt mines. Money is dreadfully scarce, paper is useless as no one will take it, especially up here with all these tribespeople."

"I decided to risk it and make a dash for Lachung in the heart of the wildest mountain ranges imaginable, to get funds to carry on the work and to see me through to wherever God knows where I will emerge."

"I had from Chinow Grew on the Lachung salt mines from the Salt Sack office."

Official Fear for His Life.

"At first the Lachung official refused to give me an escort and said he feared for my life and would not let me go. Finally, I said I must have money and I would risk it. He gave me two opium soldiers, disposable wretches of soldiers on escort. They were simply a nuisance and an expense. They were of course, only 100 as far as the next magistrate which is at Obien Chien."

"There I got four soldiers as far as Lauping. Lauping is not on any map as it is in unexplored territory. At Lauping, which is five days west from Likiep, I got five soldiers and thence we started out through the wildest country imaginable to Lachung. Dense forests, deep ravines, high mountain passes, the levelled and weirdest imaginable. I was not afraid going to Lachung but I feared the return trip with about $4,000 in silver in the trunk."

"I took seven of my men along and five soldiers from Lauping, besides myself, so we were thirteen people in all. We reached Lachung safely and had no trouble to get the money. I had to go at the end of the month to bring it so that I would reach the mine on the 15th when I did."

"It is especially at this time that the mine is watched by the bandits as usually on such dates money is dispatched. I was told at Tullu to arrange to be at the mine about the first of the month. It is exceedingly difficult to keep things secret. We had no sooner arrived in Lachung than everybody knew why we came. I did not stay longer than I had to to prevent the news traveling faster than we did, so I left the next morning with an additional escort from Lachung. Thanks to the gods I reached Likiep without mishap."

"I put four men into the jail in Lauping where they got a beating as they tried to find me but I got ahead of them and now I am safe with the cash with which to carry on. Entire Town Wiped Out."

"On my trip up the Yangtze and the Yundodde river toward Chienchi, I met the Grand Lama on the road who informed me that his house has been left standing in Chienchi. The whole place has been burned and the Chinese official dead at Likiep where he is at present. Two thousand Tibetan bandits live at Likiep Chienchi, five days north of Likiep. What will happen no one knows."

"I had a letter from the customs commissioner. He tells of the Yungkuang magistrate having been captured by brigands, and a ransom is asked of $20,000. It is certainly a problem how to get out of this country without losing one's life or all his belongings. However, our collecting goes on as usual as if it were the most peaceful place in the world."

"ALPINE LIGHT" AS A CURE

Reproduction of Sun's Rays Used in Tuberculosis.

The use of the "Alpine Light" in the treatment of tuberculosis is being tried in the X-ray department of Franklin Square hospital in Baltimore. In a number of cases, according to Dr. S. C. Rovers, director of the department, the patients have shown remarkable improvement.

The "Alpine light" makes it possible to reproduce scientifically, the sun bath which have been found so beneficial at tuberculosis sanatoria in the Alps. One man who has been accustomed to go to the mountains every spring, Dr. Rovers said, has gained twenty-five pounds through the "Alpine light" treatment in two months. Tuberculosis of the lungs or any other part of the system, as well as the lungs, the doctor explained, may be treated in this way.

Iris the Poor Man's Orchid. It was the iris of which Ruskin wrote that it "has a sword for its leaf and a lily for its heart." It is the iris that is known as the flower-de-lis of France. In Greek, from whence it came, the name means rainbow. In the United States it is often spoken of as the poor man's orchid. There are fifty 100 species in cultivation, with varieties almost without number. The flowers of different classes do not all bloom at the same time, however; by choosing different kinds it is possible to have a bloom season.

How to tell for sure —what oil your car needs

Perhaps you own a Maxwell

If you don't own a Maxwell, cut this out and hand it to a friend who does

The latest model Maxwell engines are designed with force feed lubricating systems in which oil is forced under pressure to the three main bearings. Holes drilled in the crankshaft carry the oil under pressure from the main bearings to the connecting rod bearings. The other moving parts are lubricated by the oil mist which is created when the oil is forced out through the close clearances at the ends of the connecting rod bearings.

The oil circulating pump is of the impeller type and is located at the crankshaft level, drawing its supply through a pipe connecting with a strainer in the oil reservoir.

Aluminum pistons of the constant clearance type are employed. The skirt or bearing part of this type of piston is slotted on one side to provide for expansion under heat and therefore permits the use of close clearances. In addition, horizontal slots are cut through the piston below the lower ring to permit the free return of oil from the cylinder walls.

With the effective control of the oil supply which is secured by this oil screen provision on the pistons, the possibility of carbon formation is minimized. In addition, the characteristics of aluminum as a piston material tend to prevent the fuel knock which often occurs when carbon deposits accumulate.

Where natural circulation of the cooling water (thermo-siphon system) is employed as in the Maxwell design, it is desirable to use in warm weather an oil which is suitable for fairly high operating temperatures. Such an oil will be thoroughly atomized and distributed by the Maxwell lubricating system under the conditions of summer operation.

To assure circulation of the lubricating oil in cold weather, the use of an oil which flows freely at low temperatures is necessary because of the elevated location of the oil pump with its long connection to the oil reservoir.

To meet correctly these and other important lubrication features of the Maxwell design, we recommend for the 1933 and 1934 models, the use of Gargyle Mobiloil "A" in summer and Gargyle Mobiloil Arctic in winter. For the 1931 and earlier models, Gargyle Mobiloil Arctic should be used both summer and winter.

Saved—For Another.

They were standing out there on the porch together, a porch decorated with brightly lit pine boughs and ferns. Inside the orchestra was playing a lively waltz. Indiscreetly, she seemed to sense the coming of a great moment. Cautiously she looked around. They were standing in a shaft of light coming from the interior and could be easily seen. "Shall we walk—around the block?" she asked hesitatingly. The young man at her side also seemed the great moment. He could almost picture the future, the announcement, his dad and mother, the little church around the corner, and then instinctively he grasped her arm. "No; let's go inside," he said.—London Punch.

Baro Duval God for Gypsies.

The name given by the gypsies to the Supreme Being is Baro Duval, whose son, Alaka, will eventually restore them to their native land. Alaka is represented as holding a pen in his left hand and a sword in his right. The word "Baro" means sky, and suggests a pantheistic conception of the universe. So far as the gypsies of the present day possess a religion, it is generally that of the land of their adoption. They are Mohammedans, Christians or Catholics, according to the prevailing belief.—Detroit News.

Adolpho Luque of the Reds hit his stride this year after having won the sobriquet of "Hard Luck" on account of the number of games he lost by a single tally. The Cuban pitcher has a way of his own with the ball before delivering it, and his particular style is shown in the photograph.
